STOLE HIS TWINS.

Miss Amot's Revenge on the Man Who Jilted Her. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

ELIOT (Wis.) April 27.—A woman who had been illted by her lover some years ago, last night wreaked venteance by stealing the twin daughters of the man said to have been false to her. The twins were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Asher of this town and the kidnaper is Miss Amot. There are fears that the little ones have been put out of the way for all time by the abductor.

The motive for the abduction was revenge. Asher at one time was the accepted lover of Miss Amot. Just before the time set for their marriage Asher married Miss Hannah Mayo, and this unsettled Miss Amot's mind. Asher was absent from home last night, and this fact becoming known to Miss Amot, she determined to improve the opportunity. Just before midnight she went to the Asher home and, breaking in through a window, presented herself at Mrs. Asher's bedside with a revolver in her hand.

Miss Amot admitted having taken the babies for revenge. To one person she declared she had killed them, but to Mr. Asher she said she had simply hidden them and would britg them back if given $500. She is now held a prisoner and a warrant will be sworn out against her if the children are not found soon.

opinion was rendered in the case of John D. Fee, plaintiff in error, vs. Henry C. Brown. involving the construction of the act of 1872 concerning the half-breed Chippewa scrip issued on account of the treaty of 1854 with the Chippewa Indians.

The case grew out of a dispute over eighty acres of land in Pueblo county, Colo., which had been located by Brown with the Chippewa scrip. It was contended on behalf of Fee that the scrip could only be used within the territory ceded by the Indians. The case was tried in the State courts of Colorado, and Brown's title was pronounced valid by the State Supreme Court. This decision was affirmed by the opinion of the United States Supreme Court, which was handed down by Justice Brown.

This disposition of the matter also conforms to the practice of the General Land Office in recognizing the validity of the title acquired to any land on the public domain located with the Chippewa half-breeds' scrip.

(By TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) WASHINGTON, (D. C.,) April 27.— (Special Dispatch.) San Pedro's prosects are more favorable than at any time since the adverse vote in com nittee. R. C. Kerens and George B Leighton arrived today. Kerens is not only authorized to represent the Ter minal Railway, but the Atchison, To peka and Santa Fe. Leighton repre ents the Rio Grande and Western They went at once to Senator Elkins's house. He announced that he would support San Pedro and fight Santa ca, moving for a reheating in the committee. He claims to have intended to do so from the start. Kerens and Leighton are now turning their attention to Senator Gorman, who turned after pledging himself for San Pedro. If successful, San Pedro wins by 8 to 7. Senator Frye reported the bill late this evening, giving notice that he would call it up on Wednesday. There will be a committee meeting in the changed. The bill reported gives a double appropriation. Senator White is preparing a minority report to be presented at the hearing. It will be scorching. THE BILL REPORTED. WASHINGTON, April 27. The Senate Committee on Commerce finally concluded its consideration of the River and Harbor Bill at 3 o'clock today. Almost the entire day was spent in the effort to agree upon a compromise on the conflicting claims of San Pedro and Santa Monica to the proposed deepwater harbor for Southern California out without success.

The friends of San Pedro used the utmost endeavors to secure a concession that would leave the matter in the hands of a commission, but the major-ity in favor of Santa Monica manifested no disposition to permit the change. Consequently no vote was taken upon the proposition, and the bill as finally ed upon by the committee carries the figures agreed upon last Friday These put the outer harbor at Santa Monica under the continuing-contract system at an ultimate cost of $2,988,000, and give San Pedro and Wilmington. practically the same places, $322,000, of which $50,000 goes to San Pedro, and the remainder to Wilmington.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, April 27.—(Special Dispatch.) A special to the New York World of Saturday says that Senator White has not given up hopes of de-feating the Huntington-Southern Pa-cific job in favor of establishing a deepwater harbor at Santa Monica Bay, California. It is believed, however, that the expose of this notorious scheme will lead the Senate Committee on Com-merce to throw it over. The fact that the unanimous sentiment of Southern California apart from the Southern Pa-

Santa Monica, did not prevent the af-firmative action of the committee at Friday's meeting. One of the strangest and most remarkable votes cast in the committee in favor of the Santa Monics project was that of Senator Elkins of

When he was Secretary of War he when he was Secretary of War he transmitted to the House of Representatives the following document:
WAR DEPARTMENT,

Washington, Dec. 6, 1892. In compliance with the act of Con gress entitled "An act making appro-priations for the construction, repair and preservation of certain public works on rivers and harbors, and for other purposes, approved July 13, 1892."
(Pamphlet laws, Fifty-second Congress, first session, p. 88,) I have the honor to transmit herewith, accompanied by appendices and maps, the report of a board of engineer officers of the United States army, appointed to make a care ful and critical examination for a pro posed deep-water harbor at San Pedro or Santa Monica Bay on the Pacific Very respectfully, (Signed,) S. B. ELKINS.

Secretary of War. The board of engineers by whom thi report was made consisted of Col. Wiliam P. Craighill, Lieut.-Col. Henry M. Roberts, Lieut.-Col. Peter C. Haines Maj. C. W. Raymond, Maj. Thomas H. Handbury and Brig.-Gen. Thomas L.

Casey. The conclusion of the report recites that: "Having made a careful and critical examination for a proposed deep-water harbor at San Pedro or Santa Monica Bay, as required by law, the board is unanimously of the opinion that the location selected by the board of engineers of 1890, at the present an chorage at the westerly side of San Pedro Bay, under Point Fermin, is the more eligible location for such a harbon in depth, width and capacity to accom modate the largest ocean-going vessel and the commercial and naval necessities of the country.' report, and consideration was delayed until the Congress adjourned. Then an attempt was made by the influences back of the Huntington-Santa Monica cheme to kill the San Pedro project and create a sentiment in favor of the roadstead at Santa Monica, despite the fact that three boards of engineers in ccession had decided in favor of the former. The attempts resulted in igominious failure. Both Republican and Democratic conventions of the Lo Angeles district, the State Legislature the Transmississippi Congress, the Lo Angeles Chamber of Commerce and Pedro and as unanimously fought against Santa Monica. In spite of this the Santa Monica project, dead on the Pacific Coast, bobs cheerfully up in every Congress where Huntington and the Southern Pacific money have in fluence. All the natural advantages government engineers here repeatedly declared to be in favor of San Pedro. The Southern Pacific Railroad owns and controls the terminals at Santa Monica.

When it comes to an open vote in th Senate and House, Huntington's railroad harbor job will stand no more show of winning than will his Pacific Railroad Funding Bill, unless the efforts of the big lobby that has been here all winter have been more powerful than the sentiment of California and the country.

PACIFIC RAILROAD BILL. The Minority Reports Three Objec tions to the Majority Plan.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, April 27,-The mi WASHINGTON, April 27.—The minority report on the Pacific Railroad Bill was submitted to the House today by Representative Hubbard of Missouri. It deals exhaustively with the financial conditions of the companies concerned in the proposed funding plan. It argues that the majority bill should not be adopted, for three reasons:

should not be advised.

Sons:

First—The committee has not learned enough of the affairs of the debtor companies to be able to tell the House what is best to do.

Second—The companies made offers before the committee, and are undoubtedly ready to concede terms very much better for the government than those embodied in the bill.

Third—The propositions in the bill ernment.

Under the first head it is contended that most of the partles who appeared before the committee were interested in the railroads, that every disinterested before the committee were interested in the railroads, that every disinterested in the railroads, that every disinterested in voice advocated foreclosure proceedings, not with the view that the government should operate the roads, but to protect the government as a preliminary step. It was not considered whether the government has lien on all the assets under the Thurman acteither in view of the acceptance of that act by the companies or as a matter of law. The extent of the lien of the government otherwise is in much doubt. The road compares the statement of the Central Pacific earnings made by its attorney, Mr. Tweed, with the statement in Poor's Manual, from 1890 to 1894. In the first of these years Tweed's statement was $388,000; Poor's $4,854,112.

The report declares that there is no assurance that the bill would be carried out, because both companies are insolvent and their undertakings idle; that so far as the Union Pacific is concerned, it is an option to the companies' successors, unlimited in time and binding on the government.

In regard to the Central Pacific, it suys: "It was advanced before the Politics in Washington State-Elec tion Riot at Nacogdoches-Sen-ator Cullom is in the Fight to

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—(Special Dispatch.) That the Republicans of California want McKinley for President and desire that the State convention should so instruct delegates to the national convention is conceded on all sides. The sentiment in favor of the Ohioan is so strong and enthusiastic that the very atmosphere contains in structions for the people's choice. Many leading Republicans were interviewed today by the Chronicle, and declarations in favor of positive instructions for Mo

Kinley were reiterated. The main point that presented itself o the minds of fair-thinking party men was that the people of California de nanded the nomination of William Mc Kinley, believing that in him they would find the best conservator of their interests. That the State convention should fail to instruct the national delegates who are but agents or representatives of the people, to voice the almost unanimous sentiment of the latter, is beleved to be beyond the realm of reason by those Republicans who have the interviews, the following are representative of the strong sentiment expresse in favor of instructing the national del egates:

Wendell Easton. The entire State of California is talking McKinley, and no ne else. Now, in order to make the choice of the people plain, it is wise that the State convention should ex press in no uncertain terms its choice. The California delegation should vot as a unit every time the roll is called otherwise our strength will be prac tically wasted. A delegation that has four or five different opinions will have little weight in such a large body. When should vote "Yes" or "No" on the ques-

Judge R. B. Carpenter. I believe the sentiment of the Republicans of California is for McKinley. Four years ago it was for Blaine, and everybody suped the whole vote of the delegation was going to him. One-half of the delegation went to Harrison, and what was the result? I believe the delegates should be instructed.

Ten witnesses were examined, making fifty-two up to the present time. Much time was devoted to debating by counsel. Many questions put during the day by the commonwealth were ruled out. Detective Crim testified to having seen trackson the bank above where the body was found which seemed to have been made by the rubbers which Pearl Bryan wore. He was present when Jackson and Walling were arrested, also at a private examination in the office of Chief Deitsch. The defense moved to rule out everything testified to which was not a confession. The court ruled that the jury could give no consideration whatever to the testimony of witnesses which detailed what one of the defendants said about the other.

A question was raised regarding another private examination held in the room of detention. The defense argued that Crim's testimony concerning admissions or statements at this inquiry was not competent until it was shown that no threats or inducements had been employed before Jackson was brought into the courtroom. This question was argued.

The court sustained the objection of the defendants' counsel. Crim then told the story of the effort to overhear Jackson and Walling talking together in a cell on the day they were brought from the Hamilton county jail to Newport. He said that Jackson asked Walling is had old reporters that some-body was furnishing him whisky and tobacco. Walling said "No." Jackson said "You're all right." Suspected of Having Gone Over to the Spaniards—Macco's Attitude is Still Defiant—Butchery

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) MASHINGTON, April 27.—(Special Dispatch.) A remarkable story about Maximo Gomez, general-in-chief of the revolutionary army in Cuba, comes from excellent authority in a private letter from a merchant of prominence in Havana, who takes no part in policies, but who is well posted regarding events upon the island. He says the reported illness of Gomez is an invention to explain his desertion of Maco and the patriot army, and his refusal and the patriot army, and his refusal to fight against the Spaniards any longer unless he is paid a large sum of oney, which the revolutionists have sen unable to raise.

The last accounts from Gomez repre-inted him to be desperately ill, and, in impany with a selected bodyguard, on is way to the easiern end of the island, there he boned to find a boat that where he hoped to find a boat that would take him to his home in Santa Domingo to die. The fact that he was not pursued by Spanish troops was con-sidered rather strange, and much com-mented upon, but he was allowed to dis-appear, and has not been heard from for saveral weeks.

omez is a soldier of fortune, a mai Gomez is a soldier of fortune, a man of natural ability and military skill. He began life as a private in the Dominican army. In 1864, where an attempt was made by a certain faction in Santo Domingo to annex that island to Spain, Gomez was made captain in the Spanish service, and, strangely enough, served in a regiment of which Gen. Weyler was colonel. During this war he was promoted to be major, and when the Spanish were driven out of Santo Domingo he went to Cuba, where he lived for several years on retired pay.

Santo Domingo he went to Cuba, where he lived for several years on retired pay.

During the revolution which began in 1868 he offered his services to the Spanish government, but they were declined, and he joined the revolutionists, and made a reputation as a fighter and a leader. When peace was restored, he returned for a time to Santo Domingo, but has since led a restless life. He has taken part in mearly all the broils that have disturbed the South American continent. He has fought for pay and plunder in Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador and other countries.

When the present revolution broke out he was hired by the Cuban junta in New York to accompany José Marti and take command of the army, being paid $4500 in advance for his services for one year, with permission to plunder. The men who subscribed the money are known. His engagement, expired on April 16, and it is understood that he struck for a larger amount for next year, which the patriots were unable to pay. It is suspected that he opened negotiations with the Spanish authorities, and was bribed by them to abandon the revolutionary army, with stories of his illness circulated to cover his treachery.

Near Balbo he razed ten farms, and gathered in 40 laborers, who were killed in cold blood. The most horrible phase of the last butchery is the fact that women and children were smooth that women and children were among those massacred. In the vicinity of Juraco, Melquizo ordered the slaughter of forty-seven persons who were taken from fields where they were at work. In Melquizo's territory the people are flocking to Havana to escape him.

SPANISH POLICY. NEW YORK, April 27.-A World dispatch from Madrid says that it is now evident that the Spanish government has determined to avoid giving offense has determined to avoid giving offense to those lingo newspapers of wide circulation which are leading the anti-American campaign, or to the Republicans who look out for pretexts and opportunity to attack existing institutions and royatty.

The general impression in political and diplomatic circles is that the government will go only so far in granting administrative and economical reforms to the West Indies as will give the opposition in the Cortes no chance to make those reforms an issue against the Conservative Cabinet. Premier Canovas will go no further, because he does not wish to displease Gen. Weyler and his army, and the Cuban reactionary party as well as the majority of the Spaniards prefer to postpone all of these concessions until Gen. Weyler crushes the rebellion, or at least he detaches from the insurrection the white chiefs and their followers to enable Spain then to exterminate Maceo and his colored rebels.

It is useless to indulge in the helief his colored rebels.

It is useless to indulge in the belief that the present government will go, beyond the very slight degree of home-rule embodied in last year's bill, which rule embodied in last year's bill, which in no wise implies even political autonomy. In official quarters it is said that Premier Canovas is more than ever persuaded that President Cleveland will not recognize the belligerency of the Gubans, nor exercise pressure on the Madrid government, because the European powers sympathize with Spain in her resistance to American interference. Emboldened by the present aspect of affairs the Madrid press coolyasserts that Spain might admit any mediation, even European, sooner than American.

But the rebel commander knows that his brother José is on the other side of the trocha with 6000 men. He also knows that Gens. Gomez and Calixto Garcia are organizing commands in Puerto Principe to relieve him. Gen. Maceo will never surrender. He sends word to Havana that he will cross the trocha when he is ready, and that the immense Spanish army along the barrier cannot compel him to make the assault until the right day arrives. It is said that Gen. Maceo is deliberately waiting in Pinar del Rio in order to keep one-third of the whole Spanish army idle at the western extremity of Cuba while Gomez, Calixto Garcia and other commanders organize an army and thoroughly drill their commands in the central and eastern provinces.

Even now a rumor reaches here that a large town in the east has been taken, but the rumors are abundant and trustworthy facts are scarce. It is certain, however, that the power of the insurgents in the east is increasing daily, and that Gen. Maceo's heroic position in the western hills is part of a great strategic campaign.

The correspondent says:

"Gen. Weyler looks upon the trocha as the key to the war. In my talk with him he made this plain. It has been said, and it is generally believed by the Spanish leaders, that Gen. Gomez and other commanders would make terms for peace but-for Gen. Maceo and his fierce negro followers, who will consent to nothing but complete and unconditional independence. The captain-general believes if Gen. Maceo and his fierce negro followers, who will consent to nothing but complete and unconditional independence. The captain-general believes if Gen. Maceo is conquered now the war will end in a few months.

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.,) April 27.—A steamship arrived in this port at 8 o'clock last night and is being loaded with war material for the Cuban insurgents. This steamer is lying in midstream instead of at a dock, and large boats are transferring the arms and ammunition from the dock to the yessel. It is said that 5000 rifles, 4000 revolvers, 3000 machetes, 5,000,000 cartridges, and eight Hotchkiss guns and several Gatling guns will be placed on board. The task will be completed, and then a tug will tow the vessel across the bar, twenty miles below the city. There is little danger of interference, as the Cubans have chosen their time well. The United States revenue cutter Boutwell tonight sailed for Charleston, and every official connected with the United States court is out of the city and is not expected to return until moon today. These are only coincidences, but they have driven the Spanlish Vice-Consul wild. His men have tried to enter the dock, but have been prevented by Cuban agents. The vessel will try to land on the coast of Pinar del Rio, which province Gen. Maceo controls. She may meet the Spanish cruiser Mercedes. This cruiser sailed north from Key West Saturday to intercept the fillbusters.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

CHICAGO, April 27.—At the Chicago Metho-dist ministers' meeting today Rev. John Lee, chairman of the Committee on Religious Lib-erty for Protestants in South America, read the report of the committee. he report of the committee.

It first details the difficulties experienced in his command. He is said to possess emough influence in Madrid to make it exceedingly uncomfortable for any superior officer who might endeavor to bring him to punishment.

News received here tells of his conduct during the past two weeks. Near Campo Florido, so the information runs, panal Secretary of State. The following is the

ROME, Nov. 20, 1895.

To Gardinal James Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimere—Most Reverend and Eminent Sir: In consequence of previous interviews held with Your Eminence, I wrote, of which fact you were informed, on the 12th of June, 1895, to the apostolic delegate for the republic of Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador, to obtain precise information as to the legal status of Protestants there, regarding the free exercise of religious worship, and the celebration of marriages.

tants there, regarding the free exercise of religious worship, and the celebration of marriages.

The pontifical representative of the Holy See promptly compiled with my request, and now I am in a position to state that the Protestants in Feru, far from being restricted in the free exercise of their worship, are rather accorded a larger degree of toleration than is compatible with a strict construction of the political legislation of the countries. This is evidenced by the fact that in Peru, especially in the cities of Lima and Calino, there are several Anglican and Methodist chapels, where weekly conferences are held.

As to the solemnization of marriages, the delegate informs me that, while the Constitution of Peru recognizes no other form (as valid) than that prescribed by the Council of Trent, Protestants do, as a matter of fact, wed with religious ceremony in the presence of their ministers, and civiliy by the consuls and ambassadors of their respective countries. The same condition of things relating to marriage exists in Bolivia and Ecuador, where the religious worship is regulated by constitutional enactments, with which, however, the Holy See cannot interfere.

Having in due time received from Your Eminence the representations of the Rev. John Lee, I deem it opportune to communicate to you the results of my inquiries, so that you may, according to your Judgment, transmit them to the reverend gentleman.

I am pleased to renew to you the sense of profound reverence, humbly kissing your hand, and I honor myself, reaffirm myself. Your Eminence's most humble, devoted and true servant. M. CARDINAL RAMPOLLA. The report adds: "In conclusion, the committee wishes to say:

"First—It is, indeed, a sad spectacle in this enlightened age, that an institution, claiming to be a moral and religious power in the world, should refuse to lift a finger toward sweeping away what a Roman Catholic editor in this city terms 'odious religious power in the world, should refuse to lift a finger toward in the processing the second

NONE OF SATOLLI'S BUSINESS. NONE OF SATOLLI'S BUSINESS.
WASHINGTON, April 27.—"This matter is entirely foreign to the functions of Cardinal Satolli," stated Rev. Dr. Rooker, private secretary to the papal representative, today, when shown the correspondence between the Chicago Methodist ministers and the Catholic authorities regarding restrictions on Protestants in Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia. "Cardinal Satolli is here as the pontincal representative of the Pope, and has absolutely no cognizance of matters arising out of his ewn jurisdiction. The conditions pictured are perfectly true. Protestants in strictly Catholic countries like these three andoubtedly stand on precisely the same basis as Catholics in the strictly Protestant countries. That is a matter which rests solely with the respective governments."

committee as an open secret that the Central is saved from default only by the purchase of its subsidy bonds by its friends who carry them without interest to prevent their presentation to the government for payment, pending the settlement. As to which of the two companies showed the more strength, the negotiation offering the same terms to each was carried to a point where the Central broke down and the Unique Still stood up."

Under the Powers bill the principal indebtedness would be reduced to about $23,000,000, while under no other plan could it be less than $35,000,000, exclusive of $20,000,000 preferred stock, if that were taken instead of that amount of second-mortgage installment bonds. So that most of the debt and the time, and all of the debt most of the time would be secured as a part of a first mortgage, instead of a second mortgage all the time, as proposed in this bill.

Assuming that the sinking fund pro-mortgage all the time, as proposed in this bill.

Assuming that the sinking fund provided in the bill may pay the Union Pacific debt in eighty-one years, the report asserts that the company would pay $100,000,000 in principal and interest, while under the company's first offer it would have paid interest in the same time on $35,000,000 4-per-cent. bonds, $113,000,000. The offer the committee rejected is said to be $48,000,000 better than the bill, under which, it is held, the Union Pacific Company will practically never pay the government a dollar in money.

Mr. Hubbard holds that, for the protection of the interests of the government these conditions are necessary to any bill:

First—The main lines of the Central and Union Pacific should be united for the support of the common security which the government must take on both.

Second—The United States should cond—The United States should r again rely upon a junior encumsecond—The United States should never again rely upon a junior encumbrance.

Third—A bill which purports to constitute contracts by the United States with other parties should deal with foundation titles and the holders of them.

There is an exhaustive contention of a government lien on the subsidized part of the Kansas Pacific division. It is held that with this lien established and the Central Pacific freed from its lease to the Southern Pacific, the roads could be restored to their old prosperity and the ability to satisfy the government's claims be assured. In connection with the Southern Pacific of Kentucky it is held that "the business into which some of the States have fallen of selling charters for extra-territorial operation is a manifest evil."

The additional argument is made against the committee bill that it is in conflict with the principles of the antitrust law, and will create two of the greatest railroad monopolies in the country; that it is contrary to the Constitution of California and that of Nebraska, which require that stock be issued for values only.

It is said the Union Pacific Reorganization Committee has assembled three-fourths of the first mortgage bonds, is pressing for a foreclosure, which would bar the government's secondary lien. To prevent this, the Morgan-Brice bill is recommended.

The report concludes that the Secretary of the Interior, having held that the government claim is good and should be discounted over 20 per cent, it would be unwise to pass a bill which declares the government lien to be limited, when the Thurman act said it should not be.

The total reductions made in the House appropriations for next year amount to $631,858, and the total increase over the House bill, under the continuing-contract system, amount to $8,504,603, making a net increase over the House bill, under the contract system was changed to read as follows:

section. FIFTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION. WASHINGTON, April 27—SENATE. Senator Chandler today made a sup-plemental report from the Commit-tee on Privileges and Elections on the Alabama election of 1894. Senator Chandler states that the new re-port was made because the minority report is not forthcoming, after a laps of forty-eight days. The supplemental report recites that the statement made by Senator Allen of Nebraska in his by Senator Allen of Nebraska in his speech of February 11, 1895, charging that 34,000 fraudulent votes were cast for Oates in fifteen black-belt counties, which, being rejected, would overcome Oates's apparent majority and show the election of Kolb by about 7000. The report also claims that a Kolb legislature was, in fact, elected: that in four belt counties tow Kolb Senators and seven Kolb representatives were chosen, and in fourteen white counties four Kolb representatives were chosen, but in all these cases the Democratic candidates were fraudulently declared elected, giving an apparent Democratic majority of forty-five in the Legislature. Eliminating these frauds, there was, it is asserted, an actual Populist and Republican majority of 29, making Senator Morgan's election invalid.

The Naval Appropriation Bill was then taken up. The main features of the bill are the items for four seagoing coast-line battleships, designed to carry the heavlest armor and most powerful ordnance, to cost $30,000 and ten torpedoboats, to cost $500,000.

Senator Quay offered an amendment increasing the appropriation for reserve guns for auxiliary cruisers from $250,000 to $400,000.

Senator Quay offered an amendment increasing the appropriation for reserve guns for auxiliary cruisers from $250,000 to $400,000.

Senator Gorman commented on the delay in furnishing guns at the Washington navy-yard. At one time work had been much expedited, probably as a result of the war talk, but of late the contractors had failed to furnish the jackets, etc., of guns, and this had occasioned delay. The Senator doubted the expediency of providing for a lot of new guns and following it up with many new ships, in view of the present condition of the treasury. speech of February 11, 1895, charging that 34,000 fraudulent votes were cast

"Tes, and considerable silver also," said Senator Gorman.

After further debate, Senator Quay's amendment was agreed to.

Senator Perkins of California moved an amendment appropriating $100,000 for a naval training school at Yerba Buena, Cal. He argued that American saips should be manned by Americans, and that it was desirable to foster a patriotic spirit among American seamen.

sing school similar to the one at Newport.

Senator Hale of Maine contended that naval training should be on shipboard and not on land, and Senator Faulkner pointed out that the proposed appropriation was premature, as another bill now approved by the President called on the Navy Department for plans of this school. Senator Perkins finally withdrew his amendment.

Senator Chandler offered an amendment making it unlawful after June 30, 1897, for naval officers to take service with concerns furnishing armor or other equipment for the government. He said the practice of allowing retired naval officers on three-fourths pay to enter the service of contractors dealing with the government was very objectionable, these officers had facilities for knowing what was going on at the Navy Department and it was improper that service to the government and service to the contractors should run together. He said there were several aspecific cases showing the objectionable character of this service, but he refrained from mentioning them, as the Navy Department had sanctioned the service.

Senator Gray contended that it was

Navy Department had sanctioned the service.

Senator Gray contended that it was unjust to restrict the services of naval officers on the retired list. There was no reason, said the Senator, why an officer retired by a superserviceable retiring board, anxious to magnify their own importance, should be reduced to beggary by being denied the right to beggary by being denied the right to benter upon private work. Some of the officers were retired for slight causes.

Senator Hale said that naval contractors were constantly endeavoring to get an advantage over the government and to make enormous profits, and a naval officer was thus placed in the embarrassment of serving the contractor who was against the government, and the government who was against the contractor.

Senator Allen of Nebraska asked for Senator Allen of Nebraska asked for information as to the irregularities. It was explained by Senator Chandler and Senator Hale that the result of the investigation had not been made public. Senator Hale said, however, that no corruption had been shown against naval officers.

Senator Chandler said that when the Naval Committee asked for the naval Senator Chandler said that when the Naval Committee asked for the naval officers conversant with affairs of the Carnegie works and the Bethlehem works, the two officers had appeared who were supposed to represent the government. "But, behold," said Senator Chandler, "it turned out that the two officers were on the retired list, and were in the service of the Carnegie works and Bethlehem works.

Senator Bacon of Georgia, said those officers who appeared before the Naval Committee declined to give information as to the cost of armor plate, as it would be antagonistic to their service to the Carnegie and Bethlehem works. He insisted that it was an evil so to circumstance a naval officer that his services could not be given to the government.

"Not while he is receiving as a frem."

"I agree with you in that," said Mr. Gray.

"Then we are going to bring you around all right," said Mr. Tillman lightly. He said it was neither decent nor in good taste for these officers to serve those interested in robbing the government. It was now proposed by the Naval Bill that all material used on battleships be of American manufacture. While in full sympathy with every encouragement of American interests, yet the Senator said he did not believe in having this sentiment used to further enrich a lot of millionaires. The armor manufacturers were charging $500 per ton for armor used by the United States, and at the same time furnishing armor to Russia at $300 per ton.

House, A armor contracts and were interested in getting the large at $300 per formishing the cost of armor. The government is an expectation and the propriety of this interest was now under consideration. The largest question, however, to which the committee had given its attention was the price of armor plates the manner which the armor contracts had been placed in the United States. Secretary Tracy had sought the American works were developed so to which the secretary and had induced them to put in plants capable of turning out armor, and as a result these American works were developed so to which the secretary and had not the content of the proper formit the person laws library and the proper formit the proper formit the person and the proposed and the works were developed so to which the secretary Tracy had sought the American works were developed to the proposed and the proposed proper formit the proposed p

Senator Tillman interjected the remark that when these armor concerns claimed they were furnishing armor to Russia at a loss he would not believe them. The government had practically established the Bethlehem works, although the contractors owned it, and were interested in getting the highest possible rates for armor.

After further debate the bill was laid aside, and at 5:15 o'clock the Senate adjourned.

Mr. Henderson of Iowa, chairman of the Committee on Judiciary, gave notice that he would call up the Bank-

HARBOR STEAL

After further debate, Senator Quay's said order for the consideration of the Flockier Pension Bill vas disposed of. Mr. Henderson, from the Committee on Rules, then, at 1:30 o'clock, brought in a special order for the consideration of the Flokier Pension Bill for one and a half hours this afternoon, under the five minute rule, the previous question then to be considered, as ordered on the bill, and pending amendments, with provision for a final vote tomorrow, immediately after the reading of the settlement. As to which of the two mediately after the reading of the journal.

Mr. Crisp of Georgia characterized the rule as a remarkable one. He said it pretended to do one thing, but did another, as only such amendments as were adopted in committee could be voted on. The practical consequence of the adoption of this rule would be to force the House to vote on the bill without amendment.

Mr. Dingley of Maine replied that the rule was almost a literal copy of the rule adopted by the last House when the Wilson Tariff Bill was pending.

"That rule permitted the House to vote on the pending amendments when the time for debate expired," said Mr. Crisp. "The gentleman is not candid."

when the time for debate expired," said Mr. Crisp, "The gentleman is not candid."

Mr. Dingley insisted that the spirit of the two rules was the same.

Mr. Henderson said he made no disguise of the fact that the purpose of the rule was to bring the bill to a vote. He said the situation in the Senate must be taken into consideration, and also the President in the White House, and urged all the friends of the old soldiers to stand by the bill, as the best that could be written on the statute books at this time.

Mr. Crisp reiterated his statement that the purpose of the rule was to destroy the right of amendments, and followed this with a charge that the bill had been framed, not by the Committee on Pensions, but by the leaders in control of the House, who had resolved that the House should pass this bill as drawn, or nothing.

"The Committee on Pensions," said he, "spent days and weeks perfecting a bill, and then the gentlemen who control legislation, and who manage the affairs of this House, made this bill out in the Speaker's room. This certainly is not the bill reported by the Pension Committee. Then those gentlemen brought in this rule to protect themselves against this 150 Republican majority. If you adopt the rule you must take this bill as it stands, or nothing," he concluded, sarcastically, addressing the Republican side. "If you like the situation you are welcome to it."

Mr. Henderson ridiculed the virtuous indignation of Mr. Crisp. "We now hear," said he, "the solemn volce of the past, whose rules were clad in steel, appealing for more time I have no concealment to make," he concluded. "The gentleman says he appeals for opportunity to smend this bill presumably in the interest of the old soldiers. In the same interest I ask for action."

Mr. Cannon of Illinois said that as one of the 150 majority he favored the rule. He had voted for the act of 1890.

diers. In the same interest I ask for action."

Mr. Cannon of Illinois said that as one of the 150 majority he favored the rule. He had voted for the act of 1890, he said, which had placed 400,000 new names on the pension roll. When the present administration assumed control of the Pension Office, at one stroke of the pen 20,000 names had been stricken from the rolls, and three hundred odd thousand pensioners had their pensions placed in jeopardy. This bill did not, perhaps, go as far as he wished, but it was the best that could be passed until the Republican party obtained full power.

was the best that could be passed until the Republican party obtained full power.

Mr. Hepburn of Iowa opposed the option of the rule. If there was any question on which a Republican House could be trusted it was that of pensions, and he protested against the interference of the Committee on Rules. The bill ought, he said, to be amended. The sule was adorted by 118 to 88.

Thirty-four Republicans voted against the adoption of the bill as follows: Messrs. Blue, Bowers, Burton of Missouri, Calderhead, Connolly, Cook, Cooper, Crowther, Danford, DeWitt, Eddy, Fenton, Graff, Hager, Hartman, Henderson, Hepburn, Johason of California, Kirkpatrick, McClure, McLachlan, Miller, Miner of Wisconsin, Smith, Southard, Strong, Sulloway, Tawney, Towne, Tracewell, Updegraff, Van Horn, Wanger and Wilson of Idaho. When the vote was announced, on motion of Mr. Cannon, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, the Senate Amendments to the Sundry Civil Bill were non-concurred in, and the bill sent to conference. Messrs, Cannon, Hainer, W. A. Stone and Sayers were appointed conferees.

Under the rule adopted the Pension Bill was taken up for amendment under the five-minute rule.

Mr. Connelly of Illinois offered an amendment to the section of the bill which provided that no person entitled to a pension should be disqualified from receiving a pension by resson of any prior service in the Confederate army, so as to limit the provision to persons who had performed "involuntary service" in the Southern army.

Mr. Pickler opposed the amendment on the ground that it would be impositive to receiving a pension by resson of any prior service in the Confederate army, so as to limit the provision to persons who had performed "involuntary service" in the Southern army.

PRETORIA. April 27.—(By South African Cable.) The trial was resumed today of the members of the National Reform Committee of Johannesburg. John Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer, pleaded guilty of high treason, following the example of the other leaders of the Reform Committee. Hammond was prevented by illness from being present at the time the other leaders made their plea.

In the way of cross-examination to ellelt testimony on the question of the ultimate responsibility for the Jameson movement. But the counsel for the defense read a statement which was signed by Messrs. John Hays Ham-mond, Lionel Phillips, George Farrar and Col. Francis Rhodes, the leaders of the Reform Committee, who have pleaded guilty of high treason.

This statement reviews the recent history of the futile agitation for re-dress of alleged Uitlander grievances in the Transvaal. The statement admits that. In the face of the rumors current that, in the face of the rumors current that the Boers were going to attack Johannesburg, the signers had asked Dr. Jameson to come, but that they deplored the mistake he had made in coming when there was no urgent need of his presence. They maintained that their action had not been hostile to the republic, its officials having been protected and life and property having been generally preserved. They sent officers on December 27, the statement says, to forbid the movement on Dr. Jameson's part.

In addition to this signed statement, telegrams arrived, which passed between Mr. Belt of the Chartered South Africa Company and Dr. Jameson, Col. Francis Rhodes and others; but not Hon. Cecil Rhodes, the then Premier of Cape Colony.

Following the presentation of the documents, conusel made a speech of two hours' duration in behalf of the defense, concluding as follows: "If the edge of the sword is to be used, it will cause eternal misery in the republic; but should the flat side be employed, it will usher in peace and good-will."

The trial adjourned until tomorrow, when it is expected that judgment in the case will be had.

SOUTH AFRICAN NOTES.

LONDON, April 27.—Numerous persons and members of the House of Commons have formed a South African association for the purpose of offering support to Chamberlain's South African plans.

A dispatch from Pretoria says: "President Krueger's reply to Mr. Chamberlain will be published shortly. I understand it is a diplomatic masterpiece. I believe the contents are as follows: The Transvasi government objects to the discussion of reforms on the ground that England admittedly cannot interfere with national affairs. At the same time, private suggestions from the British government will always receive consideration. If the revision of the London convention and the superseding of it by a treaty of amily and commerce containing a most-favored nation clause cannot be discussed unless the alleged grievances of the Utitanders are also discussed, the Transvasi government prefers to leave matters in statu quo, and will limit its demands to an indemnity for the Jameson raid. The President points to the necessity of his presence at the meeting of the Volksraad as an objection to his visiting England, and suggests that matters should not be pressed now. England can, however, he says, still facilitate the visit by accepting the basis of discussion which the President has already proposed. He frankly admits that his administration is not impracticable, and that the government is not always cussion which the President has already proposed. He frankly admits that his administration is not impracticable, and that the government is not always in the right, but takes objection to the offer of a guarantee against foreign attack. This was never asked, he says, and article IV of the convention was authority for that purpose. He emphasizes the view that with patience and forbearance on both sides the difficulty may yet be overcome. He expresses the hope that the wounded feelings will be healed and friendly relations restored."

The Times has a dispatch from Buluwayo, dated April 25, which says: "Today's fight was not visible from the town, and was the most determined that has occurred. It caused great excitement. The Matabeles evidently intended to crush the whites were equally determined to be ready for them. A body of 500 Matabeles came within half a mile of the town and cut off some of the pickets, killing two. Maxim guns were placed upon the roofs of the buildings to play upon them. The spating was desperate, and the enemy retreated in disorder amid an incessant rifle fire. The friendly Matabeles completed the rout of the enemy with assegais and axes. Capt. MacFarlane and Administrator Duncan, who assisted in the fight, complimented the troops, who were greeted with wild cheers and the singing of 'God Save the Queen,' whils returning here."

A dispatch to the Times from Palpaye dated Sunday, says that Earl Grey, Capts. White and Straker and Gen. Willoughby will start for Buluwayo tonight. Earl Grey has had two long interviews with the friendly Chief Khama. through whose country the road from Mafeking to Buluwayo runs. Reports from persons leaving Buluwayo should be suspected, as the position is exaggerated to justify their departure. Earl Grey's arrival in Buluwayo will restore confidence.

The Times also has a dispatch from Cape Town, which says that the supplies of grain and forage now on the road are ample for both the relief column and for Buluwayo. Hon, Cecil Rhodes has arrived at Enkelborn, and he is well. An officer has telegraphed to the Chartered Company from Gwelo that everything has been looted and burned except Carnegie's place at Hope Fountain. Five hundred of the rebels were killed in Umgazz battle. The Maxim gun fired 4000 rounds, the Hotck-kias 150 shells. The victory was most declaive and breaks up the rebels' cittadel in that direction.

The Daily Telegraph has a Pretoria dispatch which says: "It is reported that an arrangement has been arrived at by which the rank and file of the Reform Committee will pay a nominal fine. The leaders will receive a severe penalty, but it will not go beyond a heavy fine and a term in prison."

The Daily Telegraph says in an editorial; "It will not make any difference whether President Krueger comes or not. It is the Boers' loss, not ours. President Krueger knows that the real effect of the Transvaal trouble will be to make sooner or later a British South African empire, having no more contented and prosperous subjects than the Dutch."

KRUEGER'S INVITATION WITH-LONDON, April 27.-The Cabinet

LONDON, April 27.—The Cabinet held a meeting this morning to consider the terms of the reply of President Krueger to the invitation of Secretary of State for the Colonies Joseph Chamberlain to visit England. As the result of the discussion which followed, Chamberlain made a statement in the House of Commons this afternoon. He said President Krueger's reply to the question must be considered in connection with the communications which preceded it.

The most important point was that the President says, referring to the request for a definite reply to the invitation that he feels confident the Secretary of State for the Colonies will recognize and appreciate the difficulty of his position, and it appears to him wiser not to press the question of his proceeding to England any further at present, especially in view of the coming session of the Volksraad and the desirability of his presence. Under the circumstances, Chamberlain said, the government was reluctantly withdrawing its invitation and would have Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony, send Sir Graham Bewer, imperial secretary at Cape Town, to England to receive instructions regarding further negotiations. In conclusion, Chamberlain said the government hoped to lay the correspondence on the subject on the table in the course of a week.

Balfour on Arbitration.

LONDON, April 27.—First Lord of the Treasury A. J. Balfour, replying to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Liberal leader, said in the House of Commons today that arrangements for conditional arbitration respecting Venezuela and other questions are matters which Great Britain and the United States had in view during the recent regotiations. Balfour added that the last communication from the United States arrived on Friday and was now under consideration. He said the government would deal with both the general question of arbitration and also with the special question connected with Venezuela and it was confidently hoped that by patience and tact on both sides a peaceful and satisfactory solution of all matters would be attained.

OAKLAND, April 27.—The troubles in the G.A.R. camp yare by no means settled. The feeling against the alleged ring by Lyon Post is more bitter since the action of the Santa Cruz encampment than it was before, and it is possible the post will surrender its charter. There is some talk even of court-martialing the veteran commander of Lyon Post, Capt, George A. Norton, for the part he has taken in the trouble, and this talk is simply setting the Lyon members wild.

One of them said today: "The ring might as well go to the limit, It ought now to court-martial all our members, and recall the post's charter, It has done all it could to destroy the spirit of good citizenship and comradeship that existed in the order this side of the bay, and thus made itself more solid in its schemes to rule or ruin.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, April 27.-Large delegations of Native Sons arrived this morning by steamer from southern points. A majority of them arrived on this morning by steamer from southern points. A majority of them arrived on the Sunday evening train. The Grand Parlor was called to order at noon by Grand President Dunne, who made an exhaustive report of the order during the year, and an eloquent appeal to the Native Sons to make the order the grandest in the State. His report was greeted with tremendous applause.

The grand parlor assembled in Agricultural Pavilion, which, gally decorated with hundreds of fiagrs and thousands of yards of bunting, and many emblems of the order, was arranged as a lodge room.

The city is magnificently decorated, large bears, emblematic of "Lossose" parlor, No. 6, of this city, are suspended over the streets at various places. Business houses showed commendable enterprise in decorating, and many displays were very beautiful. The Fifth Regiment Band of San José gave a concert in the Courthouse yard this morning, and will give concerts every aftermoon and evening during the grand parlor session.

Without opposition Stockton was chosen as the place for the Admission day celebration this year. Redwood City is the most prominent in the race for the next Grand Parlor meeting. A vote will be taken on the subject tomorrow. San Francisco is the principal opponent.

cutters of the Bering-sea patrol fleet not to take aboard any spirituous liquors. The fleet was ready to sail when the orders were issued, and the mess officers were compelled to land their private liquors. The captains themselves, while in the north, must live like Prohibitionists, as they will not be allowed to have on board the mildest of intoxicating beverages.

The order caused a wave of disapproval throughout the fleet, but none of the officers expresed their desire of resigning rather than obey the instructions. The belief is expressed here that the order emanated from the scandal and general charges of drunkenness unearthed in the Healy case at San Francisco last autumn, when one-third of the officers on duty in Bering Sea were accused of intemperance. The patrol fleet will sail tomorrow at noon for Unalaska and Bering Sea via Sitka. In July they will go into the Arctic Ocean to look after the whaling fleet.

Several officers started on this quest. At 12:15 o'clock this morning Detective Hawley knocked on the grating of the stairway which leads down into the Palace Saloon and demanded admittance. A man appeared and told him to go away, that the saloon was closed for the night. As to what followed there is confusion of testimony. Detective Hawley's friends say he showed his star and announced his identity. Guenther & Bernhard, the proprietors of the place, deny this allegation.

At any rate along came Sergt, Jeffries and Detective Auble. The latter tried to climb over the grating. Chris Marc, one of the attachés of the place, tried to keep him out, and both men tumbled down the stairs. Then the sergeant and the other detective broke down the grating and came to Auble's aid. They arrested Marc for battery and marched him off to the Police Station. There were some thirty people in the saloon at the time, but the old German was not among them. However, he was found later, and his faithful spouse's fears relieved.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) CONSTANTINOPLE, April 26, via Sofia (Bulgaria,) April 27.—(Associated Press Copyright, 1896.) Rev. George P. Knapp, the American missionary ex-pelled from Bitlis by the Turkish au-Knapp, the American missionary expelled from Bitlis by the Turkish authorities without trial, on a charge of having incited Armenians to rebel against Turkish rule, was surrendered to the United States Consul at Alexandretta Saturday. The details of the affair, which reached here today, show the step was not taken until a United States warship had been telegraphed for. Rev. Knapp will probably, by the advice of the United States representatives, come to this city and have his conduct at Bitlis investigated before the Charge d'Affaires.

Rev. Knapp, as already cabled, was expelled from Bitlis about a month ago, in spite of the agreement reached between the United States Minister here, Mr. Terrell, and the Turkish government (after the charges against Mr. Knapp had been discussed.) that the American missionary should not leave his post until April 1, or until the roads were tolerably free from snow, in order that he might be able to take his family with him.

As it was, the missionary was compelled to leave Bitlis before the time agreed upon and without his family. When he reached Diarbekir in custody, the news was telegraphed here and the Turkish government positively asserted that Rev. Knapp was the "guest of the vall of that place, and not a prisoner."

It is now stated that the missionary has been a prisoner throughout his

of the vall of that place, and not a prisoner."

It is now stated that the missionary has been a prisoner throughout his journey to the coast, and that the vall of Aleppo detained him at that place for five days while making fulle efforts to make him sign an agreement not to return to Bitlis. Rev. Knapp steadily refused to sign any such agreement, on the ground that he had committed no crime and had in no way broken the laws of the country, and that the charges brought against him were entirely unfounded. He also distinctly gave the vall to understand that he intended to protest to the United States government against his expulsion from Bitlis and his treatment in general, and to hold the Turkish authorities responsible for the safety of his family.

When the vali saw that it was useless to continue his attempts to get Knappto sign the agreement mentioned, the missionary was allowed to proceed, still freated as a prisoner to Alexandretta. It had been agreed betwen J. W. Riddle, the American Charge d'Affaires at Constantinople, and the Turkish government that the American missionary, upon arriving at American missionary, upon arriving at Alexandretta, was to be delivered to the United States Consul there, and the latter was to see that Rev. Knapp came on to this city for trial before the representative of the United States, but when the missionary reached Alexandretta on April 23, in spite of the Porte's promises, the Turkish authorities refused to deliver the prisoner to the United States Consul. The latter entered a formal protest against the detention of the missionary, and communicated by wire with Mr. Riddle, informing him that the Turkish officials intended to expel Mr. Knapp from Turkish territory by compelling him to embark on board a steamer sailing for Europe on April 24.

Thereupon Mr. Riddle made energetic representations to the Turkish government, demanding that the latter respect its engagements, and, in order to give emphasis to his remarks, the Charge d'Affaires telegraphed to Marsinna, where the United States cruiser Marbiehead was at anchor, asking the commander of the vessel to proceed to Alexandretta and place the cruiser at the disposal of the United States Consul at that port. This prompt action on the part of Mr. Riddle had a decided effect upon the Porte, for the latter no sooner became aware that the Marblehead had been telegraphed for than orders were sent to Alexandretta for the release of Rev Knapp.

Those in a position to know the facts of the case assert that the charges against Mr. Knapp are groundless, and that the latter's expulsion was only a ballon d'essai, which, if allowed to pass without protest, would probably have resulted in similar action being taken against other missionaries, and eventually against all Protestant and Catholic missionaries in Adriatic Turke, for, all denials to the contrary, the Sultan prepared to take this step, and only gave up the plan upon the advice of the Russian Ambassador, who, however, is credited, rightly or wrongly, with having conveyed to the Sultan the plan of getting rid of the missionaries.

Mr. Riddle, during the past few days.

Mr. Riddle, during the past few days, it is understood, has been in communication with Washington regarding. the case of Mr. Knapp, and it is believed that a most searching inquiry will be made into all the circumstances attending the expulsion of the American missionary from Bitlis, in order that no doubt shall remain as to who is to blame in the matter, and it is believed that a precedent has been secured which may serve as a guide should further and similar occurrences be presented.

plause. Lieut.-Gov. Wolcott delivered an adgreeted. He said in part:

"Grant returned to the service in the United States army in the hour of sanguinary war, at the head of a regiment of volunteers. His work soon drew the attention of his superiors and he began to rise. Modest as a malden, the heavy blows of the strong arm of an Ajax was all there was to tell the story of the work that pushed him up till at the end of two years he found himself above all the officers who held superior rank; commanding armies of a million soldiers, spread out over the lines of thousands of mies, yet humbly submissive to the governdrew the attention of his superiors and armies of a million soldiers, spread out over the lines of thousands of miles, yet humbly submissive to the government he so ably defended. If another record marks such an epoch I fail to recell it. Of all the Union commanders, Grant was the great leader who accurately surveyed the great field of war. When it was all ended, incapable of malice, his generous heart offered all that his enemy could ask as terms of surrender, with abundance of provisions for the husgry soldiers and transportation to their distant homes."

Senator-elect Foraker, who followed, spoke of Grant as a soldier-statesman, referring to his record as a protectionist and a believer in the necessity of maintaining the country's credit.

Senator Thurston brought the congratulations of Nebraska to Massachusetts, saying that the Republicans of his State were just as truly, soundly and solid for a stable currency as are the Republicans of Massachusetts. "We do not want the face of the Goddess of Liberty on a piece of currency that does not represent a hundred cents on the dollar," he said.

The next speaker was James H. Hoyt of Ohlo, who was followed by several members of the club.

When the Patriots Cannot Raise It He Quits.

Suspected of Having Gone Over to the Spaniards—Macco's Attitude is Still Defiant—Butchery by Melquiso.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) WASHINGTON, April 27.—(Special Dispatch.) A remarkable story about Maximo Gomez, general-in-chief of the revolutionary army in Cuba, comes from excellent authority in a private from excellent authority in a private letter from a merchant of prominence in Havana, who takes no part in politics, but who is well posted regarding events upon the island. He says the reported illness of Gomez is an invention to explain his desertion of Maceo and the patriot army, and his refusal to fight against the Spanlards any longer unless he is perid a large sum of money, which the revolutionists have been unable to raise.

The last accounts from Gomez represented him to be desperately ill, and, in company with a selected bodyguard, on his way to the eastern end of the island, where he hoped to find a boat that he lived for several years on retired pay.

In 1864, when an attempt was made by a certain faction in Santo Domingo to anner that island to Spain, Gomez was made captain in the Spanish service, and strangely enough, served in a regiment of which Gen. Weyler was colonel. During this war he was promoted to be major, and when the Spanish were driven out of Santo Domingo he went to Cuba, where he lived for several years on retired pay.

During the revolution which began in 1868 he offered his services to the Spanish government, but they were declined, and he joined the revolutionists, and made a reputation as a fighter and a leader. When peace was restored, he returned for a time to Santo Domingo, but has since led a restless life. He has taken part in nearly all the broils that have disturbed the South American continent. He has fought for pay and plunder in Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador and other countries.

When the present revolution broke out he was hired by the Cuban junta in New York to accompany José Marti and take command of the army, being paid $4500 in advance for his services for one year, with permission to plunder. The men who subscribed the money are known. His engagement expired he struck for a larger amount for next year, which the patriots were unable to KEY WEST (Fla.,) April 27.—(By mail from Havana, April 25.) While Delgado, the American, is slowly convalescing from wounds inflicted on him by Spanish soldiers under Gen. Melquizo's bidding, several weeks ago, the brutal Spanish officer is still butchering neonle in Hayans province. Although people in Havana province. Although juizo is guilty of all the charges against him, he has not been suspended from his command. He is said to possess snough influence in Madrid to make it exceedingly uncomfortable for any su-perior officer who might endeavor to bring him to punishment.

News received here tells of his conduct during the past two weeks. Near Campo Florido, so the information runs, Campo Florido, so the information runs, Melquizo arrested nine peaceable countrymen, and by his orders they were killed. At Minas, nineteen "pacificos" fell into his clutches, and were shot. Near Balbo he razed ten farms, and gathered in 40 laborers, who were killed in cold blood. The most horrible phase of the last butchery is the fact that women and children were among those massacred. In the vicinity of Juraco, Melquizo ordered the slaughter of forty-seven persons who were taken from fields where they were at work. In Melquizo's territory the people are flocking to Havana to escape him.

SPANISH POLICY.

SPANISH POLICY. NEW YORK, April 27.-A World dispatch from Madrid says that it is now. evident that the Spanish government has determined to avoid giving offense to those jingo newspapers of wide cir-culation which are leading the anti-American campaign, or to the Repub-licans who look out for pretexts and opportunity to attack existing institu-

American campaign, or to the Republicans who look out for pretexts and opportunity to attack existing institutions and royalty.

The general impression in political and diplomatic circles is that the government will go only so far in granting administrative and economical reforms to the West Indies as will give the opposition in the Cortes no chance to make those reforms an issue against the Conservative Cabinet. Premier Canovas will go no further, because he does not wish to displease Gen. Weyler and his army, and the Cuban reactionray party as well as the majority of the Spaniards prefer to postpone all of these concessions until Gen. Weyler crushes the rebellion, or at least he detaches from the insurrection the white chiefs and their followers to enable Spain then to exterminate Maceo and his colored rebels.

It is useless to indulge in the belief that the present government will go beyond the very slight degree of home rule embodied in last year's bill, which in no wise implies even political autonomy. In official quarters it is said that Premier Canovas is more than ever persuaded that President Cleveland will not recognize the belligerency of the Cubans, nor exercise pressure on the Madrid government, because the European powers sympathize with Spain in her resistance to American interference. Emboldened by the present aspect of affairs, the Madrid press coolly asserts that Spain might admit any mediation, even European, sooner than American.

ers who surrender with their arms in Pinar del Rio within twenty days was published in the hope of weakening Gen. Maceo. But the rebel commander knows that his brother José is on the other side of the trocha with 6000 men. He also knows that Gens. Gomez and Calixto Garcia are organizing commands in Puerto Principe to relieve him. Gen. Maceo will never surrender. He sends word to Havana that he will cross the trocha when he is ready, and that the immense Spanish army along the barrier cannot compel him to make the assault until the right day arrives. It is said that Gen. Maceo is deliberately waiting in Pinar del Rio in order to keep one-third of the whole Spanish army idle at the western extremity of Cuba while Gomez, Calixto Garcia and other commanders organize an army and thoroughly drill their commands in the central and eastern provinces.

Even now a rumor reaches here that a large town in the east has been taken, but the rumors are abundant and trustworthy facts are scarce. It is certain, however, that the power of the insurgents in the east is increasing daily, and that Gen. Maceo's heroic position in the western hills is part of a great strategic campalgn.

The correspondent says:

"Gen. Weyler looks upon the trocha as the key to the war. In my talk with him he made this plain. It has been said, and it is generally believed by the Spanish leaders, that Gen. Gomez and other commanders would make terms for peace but for Gen. Maceo and his fierce negro followers, who will consent to nothing but complete and unconditional independence. A WARLIKE CARGO.

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.,) April 27.—A steamship arrived in this port at 8 o'clock last night and is being loaded with war material for the Cuban insurgents. This steamer is lying in midstream instead of at a dock, and large boats are transferring the arms and ammunition from the dock to the yessel. It is said that 5000 rifles, 4000 revolvers, 3000 machetes, 5,000,000 cartridges, and eight Hotchkiss guns and several Gatling guns will be placed on board. The task will be completed, and then a tug will tow the vessel across the bar, twenty miles below the city. By daylight the vessel should be far on her way to Cuban. In dropping down the river the vessel will pick up twenty Cubans who came here from New York by rail.

There is little danger of interference, as the Cubans have chosen their time well. The United States revenue cutter Boutwell tonight sailed for Charleston, and every official connected with the United States court is out of the city and is not expected to return until moon today. These are only coincidences, but they have driven the Spanish Vice-Consul wild. His men have tried to enter the dock, but have been prevented by Cuban agents. The vessel will try to land on the coast of Pinar del Rio, which province Gen. Maceo controls. She may meet the Spanish cruiser Mercedes. This cruiser sailed north from Key West Saturday to intercept the filibusters.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.

CHICAGO, April 27.—At the Chicago Methodist ministers' meeting today Rev. John Lee, chairman of the Committee on Religious Liberty for Protestants in South America, read the report of the committee.

It first details the difficulties experienced in obtaining the attention of the highest dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church, stating that several letters addressed to Archbishop Ireland, Cardinal Satolii, Cardinal Gibbons and finally to the Pope were unanswered. At length, however, Cardinal Gibbons took the matter up, referring it to Cardinal Rampola, papal Secretary of State. The following is the cardinal's letter to Cardinal Gibbons: e coun- cardinal's letter to Cardi cardinal's letter to Cardinal Gibbons:

ROME, Nov. 30, 1895.

To Gardinal James Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimere—Most Reverend and Eminent Sir: In consequence of previous interviews held with Your Eminence, I wrote, of which fact you were informed, on the 12th of June, 1895, to the apostolic delegate for the republic of Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador, to obtain precise information as to the legal status of Protestants there, regarding the free exercise of religious worship, and the celebration of marriages.

ignous worship, and the celebration of marriages.

The pontifical representative of the Holy See promptly compiled with my request, and now I am in a position to state that the Protestants in Peru, far from being restricted in the free exercise of their worship, are rather accorded a larger degree of toleration than is compatible with a strict construction of the political legislation of the countries. This is evidenced by the fact that in Peru, especially in the cities of Lima and Callao, there are several Anglican and Methodist chapels, where weekly conferences are held.

As to the solemnization of marriages, the delegate informs me that, while the Constitution of. Peru recognizes no other form (as valid) than that prescribed by the Council of Trent, Protestants do, as a matter of fact, wed with religious ceremony in the presence of their ministers, and civiliy by the consuls and ambassadors of their respective countries. The same condition of things relating to marriage exists in Bolivia and Ecuador, where the religious worship is regulated by constitutional enactments, with wheh, however, the Holy See cannot interfere.

Having in due time received from Your Eminence the representations of the Rev. John Lee, I deem it opportune to comunicate to you the results of my inquiries, so that you many, according to your judgment, transmit them to the reverend gentleman, transmit them to the reverend gentleman wyself, Your Eminence's most humble, devoted and true servant. M. CARDINAL RAMPOLLA.

The report adds: "In conclusion, the committee wishes to say: "First—It is, indeed, a sad spectacle in this enlightened age, that an institution, claiming to be a moral and religious power in the world, should refuse to lift a finger toward sweeping away what a Roman Catholic editor in this city terms. 'Odious religious restrictions,' and to which an aged English st

Assuming that the sinking fund provided in the bill may pay the Union Pacific debt in eighty-one years, the report asserts that the company would pay $100,000,000 in principal and interest, while under the company's first offer it would have paid interest in the same time on $35,000,000 4-per-cent. bonds, $113,000,000. The offer the committee rejected is said to be $48,000,000 better than the bill, under which, it is held, the Union Pacific Company will practically never pay the government a dollar in money.

Mr. Hubbard holds that, for the pro-ection of the interests of the govern-nent these conditions are necessary

First—The main lines of the Central and Union Pacific should be united for the support of the common security which the government must take on

Second—The United States should never again rely upon a junior encumbrance.
Third—A bill which purports to constitute contracts by the United States with other parties should deal with foundation titles and the holders of oundation titles and the holders of hem.

There is an exhaustive contention of a government lien on the subsidized art of the Kansas Pacific division. It is held that with this lien established and the Central Pacific freed from its ease to the Southern Pacific, the roads sould be restored to their old prosperity and the ability to satisfy the government's claims be assured. In connection with the Southern Pacific of Kenucky it is held that "the business into which some of the States have fallen of selling charters for extra-territorial operation is a manifest evil."

The additional argument is made tion with the Southern Pacific of Kentucky it is held that "the business into which some of the States have failen of selling charters for extra-territorial operation is a manifest evil."

The additional argument is made against the committee bill that it is in conflict with the principles of the antitrust law, and will create two of the greatest railroad monopolies in the country; that it is contrary to the Constitution of California and that of Nebraska, which require that stock be issued for values only.

It is said the Union Pacific Reorganization Committee has assembled three-fourths of the first mortgage bonds, is pressing for a foreclosure, which would bar the government's secondary lien. To prevent this, the Morgan-Brice bill is recommended.

The report concludes that the Secretary of the Interior, having held that the government claim is good and should be discounted over 20 per cent., it would be unwise to pass a bill which declares the government lien to be limited, when the Thurman act said it should not be.

The total reductions made in the House appropriations for next year amount to 363,358, and the total increase, $2,661,690, making a net increase over the House bill, under the continuing-contract system, amount to 38,504,403, making a net increase over the House bill, under the continuing-contract system, amount to 38,504,403, making a total for continuing contracts of 360,225,613. FIFTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION. WASHINGTON, April 27—SENATE. Senator Chandler today made a sup-plemental report from the Commit-tee on Privileges and Elections on the Alabama election of 1894. Senator Chandler states that the new re-port was made because the minority report is not forthcoming, after a lapse of forty-eight days. The supplemental report recites that the statement made by Senator Allen of Nebraska in his speech of February 11, 1895, charging that 34,000 fraudulent votes were cast speech of February 11, 1895, charging that 34,000 fraudulent votes were cast for Oates in fifteen black-belt counties, which, being rejected, would overcome Oates's apparent majority and show the election of Kolb by about 7000. The report also claims that a Kolb legislature was, in fact, elected: that in four belt counties two Kolb Senators and seven Kolb representatives were chosen, and in fourteen white counties four Kolb Senators and twenty-four Kolb representatives were chosen, but in all these cases the Democratic candidates were fraudulently declared elected, giving an apparent Democratic majority of forty-five in the Legislature. Eliminating these frauds, there was, it is asserted, an actual Populist and Republican majority of 29, making Senator Morgan's election invalid.

The Naval Appropriation Bill was then taken up. The main features of the bill are the items for four seagoing coast-line battleships, designed to carry the heavlest armor and most powerful ordnance, to cost $500,000 each; three torpedo-boats, having a speed of thirty knots, to cost $500,000.

Senator Quay offered an amendment increasing the appropriation for reserve guns for auxiliary cruisers from $250,000 to $400,000.

Senator Gorman commented on the delay in furnishing guns at the Washington navy-yard. At one time work had been much expedited, probably as a result of the war talk, but of late the contractors had falled to furnish the jackets, etc., of guns, and this had occasioned delay. The Sanator doubted the expediency of providing for a lot of new guns and following it up with many new ships, in view of the present condition of the treasury.

said Senator Gorman.
After further debate, Senator Quay's amendment was agreed to.
Senator Perkins of California moved an amendment appropriating $100,000 for a naval training school at Yerba Buena, Cal. He argued that American ships should be manned by Americans, and that it was desirable to foster a patriotic spirit among American seamen.

patriotic spirit among American seamen, Senator Gorman made vigorous opposition. He declared that this was the first step toward a project which might cost from one to five millions, and yet it was brought in without an estimate. He said that appropriations secured by the Pacific Coast Senators would long stand as an evidence of what can be secured through persistency. He appealed to Senator Perkins to withdraw the amendment. The California Senator consented to have the appropriation cut to $50,000, saying the liberal people of California would make up the balance.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts supported the amendment on the ground that with two great lines of Coast ships there was need of a Pacific training school similar to the one at Newport.

Senator Hale of Maine contended that ships there was need of a Pacific training school similar to the one at Newport.

Senator Hale of Maine contended that naval training should be on shipboard and not on land, and Senator Faulkner pointed out that the proposed appropriation was premature, as another bill now approved by the President called on the Navy Department for plans of this school. Senator Perkins finally withdrew his amendment.

Senator Chandler offered an amendment making it unlawful after June 30, 1897, for naval officers to take service with concerns furnishing armor or other equipment for the government. He said the practice of allowing retired naval officers on three-fourths pay to enter the service of contractors dealing with the government was very objectionable, these officers had facilities for knowing what was going on at the Navy Department and it was improper that service to the government and service to the contractors should run together. He said there were several specific cases showing the objectionable character of this service, but he refrained from mentioning them, as the Navy Department had sanctioned the service.

Senator Gray contended that it was no reason, said the Senator, why an or-ficer retired by a superserviceable re-tiring board, anxious to magnify their own importance, should be reduced to beggary by being denied the right to enter upon private work. Some of the officers were retired for slight causes. Senator Hale said that naval contrac-tors were constantly endeavoring.

enter upon private work. Some of the officers were retired for slight causes. Senator Hale said that naval contractors were constantly endeavoring to get an advantage over the government and to make enormous profits, and a naval officer was thus placed in the embarrassment of serving the contractor who was against the government, and the government who was against the contractor.

Senator Allen of Nebraska asked for information as to the irregularities. It was explained by Senator Chandler and Senator Hale that the result of the investigation had not been made public. Senator Hale said, however, that no corruption had been shown against naval officers.

Senator Chandler said that when the Naval Committee asked for the naval officers conversant with affairs of the Carnegie works and the Bethlehem works, the two officers had appeared who were supposed to represent the government. "But, behold," said Senator Chandler, "it turned out that the two officers were on the retired list, and were in the service of the Carnegie works and Bethlehem works. "Senator Becould a foorgia said those officers who appeared before the Naval Committee declined to give information as to the cost of armor plate, as it would be antagonistic to their service to the Carnegie and Bethlehem works. He insisted that it was an evil so to circumstance a naval officer that his services could not be given to the government." Interleated interested listener to the debate.

"I agree with you in that," said Mr.
Gray.

"Then we are going to bring you around all right," said Mr. Tillman lightly. He said it was neither decent nor in good taste for these officers to serve those interested in robbing the government. It was now proposed by the Naval Bill that all material used on battleships be of American manufacture. While in full sympathy with every encouragement of American interests, yet the Senator said he did not believe in having this sentiment used to further enrich a lot of millionaires. The armor manufacturers were charging $600 per ton for armor used by the United States, and at the same time furnishing armor to Russia at $300 per ton.

"I am unwilling to see these millionaires grow richer by thrusting their hands in the pockets of Uncle Sam" de-

"I am unwilling to see these millionaires grow richer by thrusting their hands in the pockets of Uncle Sam," declared Senator Tillman.

Senator Hale pointed out that the bureau officer who took part in making contracts for armor was able to look ahead to the time he would be on the retired list, and might enter into the service of the contractors. In answer to a question Senator Hale said the experts before the Navai Committee had shown that the cost of production for armor was $250 per ton.

Senator Gorman called attention to the grave suggestions of irregularity

Pension Bill tomorrow, as soon as the Pension Bill was disposed of. Mr. Henderson, from the Committee on Rules, then, at 1:30 o'clock, brought in a special order for the consideration of the Pickier Pension Bill for one and a half hours this afternoon, under the five-minute rule, the previous question then to be considered, as ordered on the bill, and pending amendments, with provision for a final vote tomorrow, immediately after the reading of the journal.

Mr. Crisp of Georgia characterized

Mr. Crisp of Georgis characterized the rule as a remarkable one. He said it pretended to do one thing, but did another, as only such amendments as were adopted in committee could be voted on. The practical consequence of the adoption of this rule would be to force the House to vote on the bill without amendment.

Mr. Dingley of Maine replied that the rule was almost a literal copy of the rule adopted by the last House when the Wilson Tariff Bill was pending.

the rule adopted by the last House when the Wilson Tariff Bill was pending.

"That rule permitted the House to vote on the pending amendments when the time for debate expired," said Mr. Crisp. "The gentleman is not candid."

Mr. Dingley insisted that the spirit of the two rules was the same.

Mr. Henderson said he made no disguise of the fact that the purpose of the rule was to bring the bill to a vote. He said the situation in the Senate must be taken into consideration, and also the President in the White House, and urged all the friends of the old soldiers to stand by the bill, as the best that could be written on the statute books at this time.

Mr. Crisp reiterated his statement that the purpose of the rule was to destroy the right of amendments, and followed this with a charge that the bill had been framed, not by the Committee on Pensions, but by the leaders in control of the House, who had resolved that the House should pass this bill as drawn, or nothing.

"The Committee on Pensions," said he, "spent days and weeks perfecting a bill, and then the gentlemen who control legislation, and who manage the affairs of this House, made this bill out in the Speaker's room. This certainly is not the bill reported by the Pension Committee. Then those gentlemen brought in this rule to protect themselves against this 150 Republican majority. If you adopt the rule you must take this bill as it stands, or nothing," he concluded, sarcastically, addressing the Republican side. "If you like the situation you are welcome to it."

like the situation you are welcome to it."

Mr. Henderson ridiculed the virtuous indignation of Mr. Crisp. "We now hear," said he, "the solemn voice of the star-chamber Rules Committee of the star-chamber Rules Committee of the star-chamber Rules Committee of the star-chamber Rules were clad in steel, appealing for more time I have no concealment to make," he concluded. "The gentleman says he appeals for opportunity to amend this bill presumably in the interest of the old solders. In the same interest I ask for action."

Mr. Cannon of Illinois said that as one of the 150 majority he favored the rule. He had voted for the act of 1890, he said, which had placed 400,000 new names on the pension roll. When the present administration assumed control of the Pension Office, at one stroke of the pen 20,000 names had been stricken from the rolls, and three hundred odd thousand pensioners had their pensions placed in jeopardy. This bill did not, perhaps, go as far as he wished, but it was the best that could be passed until the Republican party obtained full power.

Mr. Hepburn of Iowa opposed the op-was the est that could be passed that the Republican party obtained full power.

Mr. Hepburn of Iowa opposed the option of the rule. If there was any question on which a Republican House could be trusted it was that of pensions, and he protested against the interference of the Committee on Rules. The bill ought, he said, to be amended. The rule was adopted by 119 to 38.

Thirty-four Republicans voted against the adoption of the bill as follows: Messrs. Blue, Bowers, Burton of Missouri, Calderhead, Connolly, Cook. Cooper, Crowther, Danford, DeWitt, Eddy, Fenton, Graff, Hager, Hartman, Henderson, Hepburn, Johason of California, Kirkpatrick, McClure, McLachian, Miller, Miner of Wisconsin, Smith, Southard, Strong, Sulloway, Tawney, Towne, Tracewell, Updegraff, Van Horn, Wanger and Wilson of Idaho. When the vote was announced on motion of Mr. Cannon, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, the Senate Amendments to the Sundry Civil Bill were non-concurred in, and the bill sent to conference. Messrs, Cannon, Hainer, W. A. Stone and Sayers were appointed conferees.

SOUTH AFRICAN NOTES.

LONDON, April 27.—Numerous persons and members of the House of Commons have formed a South African association for the purpose of offering support to Chamberlain's South African plans.

A dispatch from Pretoria says: "President Krueger's reply to Mr. Chamberlain will be published shortly. I understand it is a diplomatic masterplece. I believe the contents are as follows:

The Transvazi government objects to the discussion of reforms on the ground that England admittedly cannot interfere with national affairs. At the same time, private suggestions from the British government will always receive consideration. If the revision of the London of the Lond administration is not impracticable, and that the government is not always in the right, but takes objection to the offer of a guarantee against foreign attack. This was never asked, he says, and article IV of the convention was authority for that purpose. He emphasizes the view that with patience and forbearance on both sides the difficulty may yet be overcome. He expresses the hope that the wounded feelings will be healed and friendly relations restored."

The Matabeles evidently intended to crush the whites and to attack the town. The whites were equally determined to be ready for them. A body of 500 Matabeles came within half a mile of the town and cut off some of the pickets, killing two. Maxim guns were placed upon the roofs of the buildings to play upon them. The fighting was desperate, and the enemy retreated in disorder amid an incessant rifle fire. The friendly Matabeles completed the rout of the enemy with assegais and axes. Capt. DRAWN.

LONDON, April 27.—The Cabinet held a meeting this morning to consider the terms of the reply of President Krueger to the invitation of Secretary of State for the Colonies Joseph Chamberlain to visit England. As the result of the discussion which followed, Chamberlain made a statement in the House of Commons this afternoon. He said President Krueger's reply to the question must be considered in connection with the communications which preceded it.

The most important point was that the President says, referring to the request for a definite reply to the invitation that he feels confident the Secretary of State for the Colonies will recognize and appreciate the difficulty of his position, and it appears to him wiser not to press the question of his proceeding to England any further at present, especially in view of the coming session of the Volksraad and the desirability of his presence. Under the circumstances, Chamberlain said, the government was reluctantly withdrawing its invitation and would have Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony, send Sir Graham Bewer, imperial secretary at Cape Town, to England to receive instructions regarding further negotiations. In conclusion, Chamberlain said the government hoped to lay the correspondence on the subject on the table in the course of a week.

Balfour added that the last communication from the United States had on Friday and was now under consideration. He said the government would deal with both the general question of arbitration and also with the special question connected with Venezuela and it was confidently hoped that by patience and tact on both sides a peaceful and satisfactory solution of all matters would be attained. OAKLAND, April 27.—The troubles in the G.A.R. camp are by no means settled. The feeling agaipst the alleged ring by Lyon Post is more bitter since the action of the Santa Cruz encampment than it was before, and it is possible the post will surrender its charter. There is some talk even of court-martialing the veteran commander of Lyon Post, Capt. George A. Norton, for the part he has taken in the trouble, and this talk is simply setting the Lyon members wild.

One of them said today: "The ring might as well go to the limit. It ought now to court-martial all our members, and recall the post's charter. It has done all it could to destroy the spirit of good citizenship and comradeship that existed in the order this side of the bay, and thus made itself more solid in its schemes to rule or ruin.

"I want to call your attention to the point that the tall wags the dog. At the department encampment there are five veterans selected as members of the council of administration to act with the elective officers. Of these five appointees four were selected from San Francisco, leaving only one member to represent the State at large. Of the four San Franciscons two are taken from Thomas Post and one from Garfield Post. Thus three members out of five are taken from the two posts which Lyon Post, in its charges, says usurped nearly everything."

The order caused a wave of disapproval throughout the fleet, but none of the officers expresed their desire of resigning rather than obey the instructions. The belief is expressed here that the order emanated from the scandal and general charges of drunkenness unearthed in the Healy case at San Francisco last autumn, when one-third of the officers on duty in Bering Sea were accused of intemperance. Several officers started on this quest. At 12:15 o'clock this morning Detective Hawley knocked on the grating of the stairway which leads down into the Palace Saloon and demanded admittance. A man appeared and told him to go away, that the saloon was closed for the night. As to what followed there is confusion of testimony. Detective Hawley's friends say he showed his star and announced his identity. Guenther & Bernhard, the proprietors of the place, deny this allegation.

At any rate along came Sergt, Jeffries and Detective Auble. The latter tried to climb over the grating. Chris Marc, one of the attachés of the place, tried to keep him out, and both men tumbled down the stairs. Then the sergeant and the other detective broke down the grating and came to Auble's aid. They arrested Marc for battery and marched him off to the Police Station. There were some thirty people in the saloon at the time, but the old German was not among them. However, he was found later, and his faithful spouse's fears relieved.

Receiving Word that the Cruiser Marblehead Had Been Ordered Forward the Turks Surrendered the Missionary in Haste.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) CONSTANTINOPLE, April 26, via ofia (Bulgaria,) April 27.—(Associated CONSTANTINOPLE. April 26, via Sofia (Bulgaria,) April 27.—(Associated Press Copyright, 1896.) Rev. George P. Knapp, the American missionary expelled from Bitlis by the Turkish authorities without trial, on a charge of having incited Armenians to rebel against Turkish rule, was surrendered to the United States Consul at Alexandretta Saturday. The details of the affair, which reached here today, show the step was not taken until a United States warship had been telegraphed for. Rev. Knapp will probably, by the advice of the United States representatives, come to this city and have his conduct at Bitlis investigated before the Charge d'Affaires.

Rev. Knapp, as already cabled, was expelled from Bitlis about a month ago, in spite of the agreement reached between the United States Minister here, Mr. Terrell, and the Turkish government (after the charges against Mr. Knapp had been discussed,) that the American missionary should not leave his post until April 1, or until the roads were tolerably free from snow, in order that he might be able to take his family with him.

As it was, the missionary was compelled to leave Bitlis before the time

As it was, the missionary was compelled to leave Bitlis before the time agreed upon and without his family. When he reached Diarbekir in custody, the news was telegraphed here and the Turkish government positively Turkish government positively as-serted that Rev. Knapp was the "guest of the vall of that place, and not a prisoner."

It is now stated that the missionary has been a prisoner throughout his journey to the coast, and that the vali of Aleppo detained him at that place for five days while making futile efforts to make him sign an agreement not to return to Bitlis. Rev. Knapp steadily refused to sign any such agreement, on the ground that he had committed no crime and had in no way broken the laws of the country, and that the charges brought against him were entirely unfounded. He also distinctly gave the vall to understand that he intended to protest to the United States government against his expulsion from Bitlis and his treatment in general, and to hold the Turkish authorities responsible for the safety of his family.

When the vall saw that it was useless to continue his attempts to get Knappto sign the agreement mentioned, the missionary was allowed to proceed, still freated as a prisoner, to Alexandretta. It had been agreed betwen J. W. Riddle, the American Charge d'Affaires at Constantinople, and the Turkish government that the American missionary, upon arriving at Alexandretta, was to be delivered to the United States Consul there, and the latter was to see that Rev. Knapp came on to this city for trial before the representative of the United States, but when the missionary reached Alexandretta on April 23, in spite of the Porte's promises, the Turkish authorities refused to deliver the prisoner to the United States Consul. The latter entered a formal protest against the detention of the missionary, and communicated by wire with Mr. Riddle, informing him that the Turkish officials intended to expel Mr. Knapp from Turkish territory by compelling him to embark on board a steamer sailing for Europe on April 24.

Thereupon Mr. Riddle made energetic representations to the Turkish government, demanding that the latter respect its engagements, and, in order to give emphasis to his remarks, the Charge d'Affaires telegraphed to Marsinna, where the United States cruiser Marblehead was at anchor, asking the commander of the vessel t

Mr. Riddle, during the past few days, it is understood, has been in communi-cation with Washington regarding the case of Mr. Knapp, and it is believed that a most searching inquiry will be made into all the circumstances at-tending the expulsion of the American missionary from Bitlis, in order that no doubt shall remain as to who is to blame in the matter, and it is believed that a precedent has been secured which may serve as a guide should further and similar occurrences be presented.

A dispatch from Trinidad, Colo., says that John Aiello, manager, and Robert Mackey, assitant manager of the coal company's store at Berwinda, were robbed by four masked men of $4.00 they were taking up to the mine to pay the miners.

J. L. Stewart, an Iowa pioneer, is dead at Council Bluffs, He was one of the wealthiest men in the State. He was engaged in freighing across the plains before the opening of the Union Pacific Reilroad. He was for years the representative of the Great American Fur Company in that section.

Caps the Climax.

In the Eastern States the Youman is one of the best known Hats. It sells for $5 the world over. If more men in this state knew about Youman Hats, more men would wear them. In placing our fall orders we secured permission from the makers to sell the Youman Hat for two weeks at $3.50. This is done purely for the purpose of advertising the Hai, and every man who buys one is just exactly $1.50 ahead. Derby and Fedora styles. black or brown. Sale commences Wednesday morning at 9 a.m.

CIRCULATION.

Sworn Weekly Statement of the Circulation of the Los Angeles Times.

TE OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF LOS

NOTE.—THE TIMES is a seven-day paper. The above aggregate, viz., 146,360 copies, issued by us during the seven days of the past week, would, if apportioned on the basis of a six-day evening paper, give a daily average circulation for each week-day of 24,393 copies.

THE TIMES is the only Los Angeles paper which has regularly published sworn statements of its circulation, both gross and net, weekly, monthly and yearly, during the past several years. Advertiser have the right to know the NET CIRCULATION of the medium which seeks their business, and this THE TIMES gives them correctly, from time to time.

Mr. John Wenk of Karoma, Okla. relates that while building a schoolhouse in his district one of the men complained of having a headache, which, he said, often neadache, which, he said, often troubled him if he was not careful in regulating his diet, and that a fellow-workman thereupon asked, "Why don't you take Ripans Tabules?" When the noon hour came Mr. Karoma induced the man who advised the use of Ripans Tobules to eat dipner with him Tabules to eat dinner with him. and, while eating, asked him to give his experience with Ripans Tabules, which he seemed pleased to do, and said: "Before I came to Oklahoma I used to live in Chicago. I worked at the bricklayer trade and was troubled with dyspepsia a great deal. My head ached terribly at times, and I durst not eat any at times, and I durst not eat any raw vegetables of any kind. I tried all kinds of medicines with no effect. My case grew rapidly worse; I had to quit work. One day an old friend of mine visited me and asked me what kind of medicine I was taking. I named a whole list of medicines that had been prescribed for me, all having little or no effect. 'John, try Ripans Tabules,' said he. 'You can get them at the corner drug store.' I sent my little boy to the store, and told him to get me a box. store, and told him to get me a box. He soon came back with them and I commenced to use them. Before I had used half of the box I began to get better, and when I had used it all I was well and went to work again. Since then I have always kept them in the house.

And if you will come to my house (he said, turning to the man who had complained of headache.) I will give you a medicine that you will give you a medicine that you will have faith in." This was on the 20th of November, 1895. One Gives folks are not so very much ahead after all. They do just as foolish things as does the medicine man. They go along carelessly, and allow the little sickness to grow into the big sickness. They allow constipation to grow into indigestion, heartburn, dizziness, headache, insomnia, and a nundred other distressing conditions. They do this frequently because they do not know the cause of their trouble. It is a pretty safe rule to look for the source of 9-roths of human sickness in this one simple and appallingly prevalent trouble. Another foolish thing that smart people do is to take some alleged remedy for constipation and keep on taking it, day after day, month after month and year after year. Perhaps it is better to take the medicine than not to take it at all, but of course if they stop taking it, their trouble will come back. This last statement is true of every other medicine prepared for this purpose except Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild catharic. They are gentle and efficient in their action, permanent in their results. You don't become a slave to their use, as with other pills.

These indefatigable workers who made the late lamented flesta the brilliant success it was are still hard at it, settling bills, calling in subscriptions, and generally straightening out the affairs of the great carnival, which promises to be a success financially as well as in other ways.

Secretary Willard is non-committal as yet concerning the exact status of the affair, but states it as a settled fact that everything will come out even, and perhaps a little over. There are a number of subscriptions yet to collect, and all the bills have not been presented, but everything is in shape for an early report, and the definite figures will probably be given in about ten days, or a fortnight.

The Executive Committee is working hard in its rooms at the Chamber of Commerce and displaying the same admirable system that has marked the festival since the very beginning. The members are a tired lot of men, but there is a conspicuous absence of the usual discord and disgust which attends the collapse after such a long and hard the collapse after such a long and hard strain.

Every committeman has only kind words to say of the other working members, and all join in most enthusiastic praise of the beautiful and gracious woman who lent the crowning charm to every event of the festival. To the Queen, say both President Francis and Secretary Willard, fully half the success of the flesta is due. In addition to being a sight beautiful enough to have charmed Diogenes into good-nature, the fair Queen lent herself with the most unselfish kindness to every plan made by the committee. She was always in her place promptly, and fulfilled every duty of her regal station with a pleasant readiness and good-will that added much to the success of every function at which she presided. With truly royal kindness, she put aside fatigue and inclement weather, and, in spite of the advice of the committee and of her friends, insisted upon reviewing the children's parade in all her royal robes, because "the little ones would be so disappointed if they did not see the Queen at their procession." royal robes, because "the little ones would be so disappointed if they did not see the Queen at their procession." It is safe to say that the entire city joins the committee in hearty admiration of the lovely sovereign who made such a perfect climax to La Fiesta. In all the multiplicity of details to be discussed and carried out, Mr. Willard enthusiastically avers that he had "just a dandy committee to work with." Everything was settled beforehand, down to the movements of the carriages and the placing of guards to keep order. Two evenings before the opening of the carnival the working members of the Executive Committee shut themselves up in a room, and rehearsed the entire fiests, planning every detail, from the looting of the city to the final masquerade.

"It was like a game of chess," said Mr. Willard, "and we were like men just out of a Turkish bath when that eight-hour strain was over, but there was no hitch or jar through it all. We had a stenographer there, taking down everything, and by the time that record was finished we had the fiesta in hand. Everything went smoothly after that: It was like unwinding a skeln, for every was finished we had the flesta in hand. Everything went smoothly after that: It was like unwinding a skein, for every man knew exactly what to do, and when to do it, and the whole thing worked like a charm."

Mr. Willard was especially delighted with the success of the chosen line of march for the processions, which was amply demonstrated by the readiness and order which attended the disbanding after the parade, and the shortness amply demonstrated by the readiness and order which attended the disbanding after the parade, and the shortness of the blockade for the electric lines. Everybody was punctual, and the handling of the processions was made easy by the perfect order of the integral parts, and the promptness with which they came to time.

Frank Wiggins is another weary but contented man. He mourns, rather, that he had not had an appropriation of $3000 or $4000 wherewith to make the streets of Los Angeles shine like Solomon in all his glory, with many arches and substantial decorations that would last from year to year, but he did the best he could with the meager sum of $1500 placed at his disposal, and managed to spread the bright decorations over much territory, and to dress out a large portion of the city in carnival attire.

age to spread the origin decorations over much territory, and to dress out a large portion of the city in carniwal attire.

Mr. Wiggins is strongly in favor of making a substantial provision for decorations, and of adopting the Chinese plan in purchasing materials that will be both effective and durable, to make a rich festival dress which shall do credit to the city during future flestas. The tangle of electric wires now makes the use of large banners practically impossible for street decoration, and arches are as expensive as they are effective, if properly constructed for both day and night show, with all the paraphernalia of electric lights as well as the draperies and heavy foliage which should make the daylight showing.

President John F. Francis is also radiant over the general result, a large share of which he attributes to the skill and energy of Mr. Willard. Mr. Francis was, from the first, strongly in favor of running the flesta on the lines of the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, with great attention to details and little exploiting beforehand, that no one's expectations might be raised beyond the likelihood of full realization by the event.

One pretty incident delighted the very soul of the genial president of La Flesta. "Michael," the coachman of Mrs. C. W. R. Ford, who drove the carriage of the Queen on all occasions, firmly refused to take a cent of compensation for his services, because it had been the wish of his late employer that the Ford carriage and four horses should be placed at the disposal of the Queen. Mrs. Ford carried out the wishes of her husband in every particular, and Michael gave his extra work out of respect to the memory of his employer.

Bills for other services are showering in from all parts of the city, but in a few more days La Flesta of 1896 will have had a decent burial, and the mourners will begin to plan for La Fiesta of 1897.

In according praise for the management of La Flesta, nothing has yet been said about two men who did much mourners will begin to plan for La Fiesta of 1897.

In according praise for the management of La Fiesta, nothing has yet been said about two men who did much to reduce to a minimum the friction usually incident to the handling of greaf crowds. L. Behymer, who not only sold the tickets, but was in command of the army of gentlemanly ushers at the tribunes, showed excellent generalship in the seating of all coupon holders without any visible trouble. A. J Moore, as clerk of the Press Committee, also received much praise for the interest he showed in behalf of the newspaper fraternity, he knowing so well how important it is that those who record the progress of such a show should be given ample opportunity for seeing it.

THE SANTA MONICA JOB.

A Washington dispatch to the New York World, printed in another column, calls attention to the fact that Senator Elkins, as Secretary of War, transitted to the House of Representatives the unanimous report of the board of government engineers, submitted in 892, recommending San Pedro as the preferable site for a deep-water haror on the Los Angeles coast. The report of the board of 1892, as is well own, sustained the report of the preceding board, made in 1899. Both reports recommended San Pedro as a better harbor site than Santa Monica, and Mr. Elkins was fully cognizant of the contents of the report transmitted by him to the House. His vote against the people's harbor, and in favor of Huntington's breakwater, at last Thursday's meeting of the Senate Committee on Commerce, was a great surprise, to state the case mildly, as he had on numerous occasions expressed

The World's dispatch further calls attention to the fact that both the Republican and the Democratic Congress conventions for this district, the State Legislature, the Transmississippi Congress, the Los Angeles Chamber of standpoint, and to express the same. merce and the City Council, "unanimously favored San Pedro and as nimously fought against Santa Monica." The dispatch adds that when It comes to an open vote in the Senate and the House, Huntington's railroadharbor job "will stand no more show of vinning than will his Pacific Railroad Funding Bill, unless the efforts of the big lobby that has been in Washingall winter have been more powerful than the sentiment of California and the country."

The Young Men's Republican League is capable of doing some good work, but in order to make themselves effective those members of it who are perched upon the fence in a lonesome and uncomfortable attitude ought to get down and get into the procession. The band-wagon has started and will not wait for laggards.

Senator Frye has evidently thought better of his threat not to report the Rivers and Harbors Bill "if there was going to be a row over it." The bill was reported last night as it stands and Senator White will file a minority report. There will be the biggest kind of a row when Mr. White gets down to business. And he will win.

Let every good Republican attend the primaries tomorrow and vote for clean men, who are undoubtedly in favor of the people's choice, William McKinley, for President, or let him hold his eace until after the election Decent Republican citizens of Los Angeles should see that the gang of would-be Republican bosses-chief among whom is H. Lindley—receives deserved rebuke tomorrow, which it will remember.

The despicable gang of profession political bunco-steerers who are am-bitious to run local politics rely on the indifference of decent citizens at the polls. See that they are disappointed.

If you fail to attend the primaries tomorrow and to put in your vote for good men you have no right to complain at later developments in political affairs. You will be partly to blame.

Let every good Republican who is in sympathy with the great ideals of his party attend the primaries tomorrow and do his best to see that only good, square McKinley men are selected.

You are a good clean Republican citizen, are you not? You are against the rule of mercenary bosses? Your vote is needed tomorrow at the primaries. Election day may be too late.

The question of McKinley's nomination is scarcely debatable any longer. The really debatable point now is whether he will be nominated on the first ballot or by acclamation.

There will be plenty of people to vote for McKinley. See that you attend the primaries tomorrow and assist in making it certain that the people will have a chance to vote for him.

The sure enough Republicans of the Iwenty-second precinct, Sixth Ward, ought to try it over again at a caucus onight. They cannot afford to "lay down" or be "done up."

What is the good of shouting for McKinley, if you don't take the trouble to go to the primaries tomorrow and see that only true friends of his are placed on guard?

Look out for underhand work at the primaries tomorrow. The enemy knows he cannot win in the open, so he will burrow underground, like a gopher.

No good citizen of Los Angeles who absents himself from the primaries tomorrow has any right to criticise future developments of the campaign.

It is at the primaries that the most important business of the campaign is to go. It is your duty to go.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES

LOS ANGELES THEATER. LOS ANGELES THEATER. A play which is rewarded with four curtain calls at the close of the first act and which finds the audience on its feet applauding for the curtain after it drops on the closing scene, surely has something to back it besides the facile phrases of the enthusiastic advance agent or the deftly rounded sentences which that worthy injects into the advertising columns of the pewspapers.

into the advertising columns of the newspapers.

Such was the reception given Frank Mayo in "Pudd'nhead Wilson" at the Los Angeles Theater last night by an audience which knows a good thing when it sees it.

That famous Californian humorist, Mark Twain, built a great reputation on far lesser performances than the delineation of the character of that quaint Misouri lawyer, David Wilson, nick-named "Pudd'nhead" by his chuckleheaded neighbors in Dawson, who were too thick-skulled to understand the sweetness of his character or too shallow to fathom the deeps of his understanding.

one we have known of in our boyhood's days.

This briefless lawyer whose shingle swings in the balmy breeze of old Missouri for twenty-three years before fortune grants him a client, is the central figure of this touching and telling play, but strong as is the vivid personality of the star, there are about him other characters drawn with skillful strokes of the author's pen and fashioned into dramatic form by a hand quite as deft and masterly as was that of their creators.

There is a strong story in "Pudd'nhead Wilson," but pointed and interesting as it is, its character drawing is manifestly the chief phase of its superiority.

nead Wilson," but pointed and interesting as it is, its character drawing is manifestly the chief phase of its superiority.

The tale unfolds about a female slave who has a boy child thirty-one parts white and yet born a slave like herself. On the day that this slave's master is about to have his own child christened, the slave's babe and the master's babe are lying asleep together in the same crib. By an accident the slave's child is taken to the christening. The mother immediately discovers the error, but her cupidity is aroused; she sees a chance to save her boy from being "sold away down the river," and locks up the secret of the exchange of children in her own bosom, posing thereafter as the mother of the other child.

Enter "Pudd'nhead Wilson" with his fad for taking impressions of thumbs on bits of glass.

With the zeal of a numismatist or a bug collector, Wilson proceeds to record the thumb marks of the two sleeping babes, filing away the record with names and date in his great cabinet of other like impressions. In the years following he takes other impressions of the same children's thumbs, but of course known otherwise only to the slave mother, Roxy.

The motif of the piece is in the showing that blood will tell, however discussed. The real slave, though sept away to be educated at Yale and brought up as a gentleman, turns out a thief and a rascal. The white child, though in bondage, shows the heart and soul of a gentleman.

It is through the thumb marks collected by the caseless Missouri lawyer that the deception is at last revealed, the real slave disclosed as a thief, attempted assassin and blackguard, and the white child restored to his own.

Though this is, briefly, the story there are side lights upon it that make.

thief, attempted assassin and blackguard, and the white child restored to his own.

Though this is, briefly, the story there are side lights upon it that make it glow like camp fires along the hills.
It is rich with humor and quaint with wisdom. It is tense with feeling and vibrant with pathos. It touches the eyes to tears and sets the laughter rippling about the lips. Its atmosphere is as sweet as the odor from freshly mown meadows, where the larks warble, and it leaves a taste in the mouth like the remembrance of lush berries plucked from the grassy uplands when we were boys and girls.
Roxy is a striking bit in "Pudd'nhead wilson," and Eleanor Moretti plays it with the rarest excellence. There is the devil in her eye and the fire of Africa's suns beneath the peachy surface of her skin. Her use of the negro patois is somewhat difficult for the dull and unaccustomed ear to catch, but it is full of flavor and her laugh has a gurgle in it that suggests the flow of a seductive draught from a smallthroated decanter.

Lucille Laverne as "Pudd'nhead's" sister Patsy is also immensely clever, and Frances Grahame as Rowy, the nlece of the thumb-mark faddist, does some of the neatest bits of acting in the play.

Arnold Daly as Chambers, the en-niece of the thumb-mark faddist, does some of the neatest bits of acting in the play.

Arnold Daly as Chambers, the enslaved white boy, was capital. Frank E. Alken made a delightful York Driscoll, and Frank Campean, as Tom Driscoll, the palmed-off babe, did most excellent work in an unpleasant part. He was a splendid villain, and made one of the big hits of the plece.

Newton Chismell, as the sheriff, did some most clever comedy work, and Adolph Klauber and George Hallton not only made up excellently as the twins, but assumed the roles with much credit. The entire company is surpassingly good—so clever, indeed, that it seems scarcely fair to particularize.

Of Mr. Mayo's work it is scarcely necessary to add more than to say that it is by far the greatest work of this great player. There is a study in every shift of the figure, in every pose, in every quirk of speech and twist of the lips, and in the small bits of business he is a master.

THE ORPHEUM. This week is keeping quite up with the procession in the way of attractions at the propular vaudeville theater, although the only new feature is Elena Leila, the "singing doll." There is nothing of the doll about Miss Leila except her dress, for she possesses a sweet soprano voice, and her imitation of the magic flute which plays itself when held in the hands of the musician, is very clever, and received a hearty encore. The Nawns appear in another Irish sketch, entitled "The Broken Pledge," in which Mr. Nawn, as the drunken candidate for office, is as funny as ever, though otherwise the skit rather drags. La Bella Carmen emerges from her blue satin pavilion as lithe and graceful as ever, and her dancing upon the wire is as clever as it is darling. Bruet and Riviere still bring down the house with their wonderful vocal imitations, and their cat fight is even more enchanting than the violin and 'cello duet. The Marvelles are living up to their name in great style, doing marvels of high kicking and making a green tangle of themselves all over the stage in their wonderful acrobatic feats. Rosie Rendelis received with as much enthuslasm as when she first sprang forth from among her black velvet curtains in lightning transformation of character and danced her way into the good graces of a Los Angeles audience. Adonis Ames is still smilling and contented, in spite of the uncanny knots into wheh he ties his wonderfully classic anatomy every evening, to the uproarious delight of an audience critical as to contortionists. Best of all, though, is Segommer, who revives all the old faccination of ventriloquism in his shriekingly funny agt with his puppets, and reduces the audience to help-less convulsions of Lauskiers aver the THE ORPHEUM. This week is keepthough, is Segommer, who revives all the old fascination of ventriloquism in his shriekingly funny act with his puppets, and reduces the audience to helpless convulsions of laughter over the lightning shadowgraphs. The house was crowded to the roof, as usual, and the programme a howling success from start to finish.

M'KINLEY AND A.P.A.

What the Newspapers of the Country Say.

They Characterize the Attack as a Great Error.

Has Aroused a Storm of Indignation Falsehoods Refuted—What Demo-erats Say—No. Grounds for the Accusation.

The Times prints herewith the opin ions expressed in the editorial columns of a number of newspapers of the country respecting the attack made by cer tain officers of the A.P.A. on Maj. Mc-Kinley, as a candidate for the Presidency of the United States. The newspapers from which the extracts are taken represent, in a large measure, all ections of the country, and may, therefore, be accepted as a fair reflex of public opinion on this matter. There is one point in connection with it that should be stated immediately: It is that the opposition manifested against Maj. McKinley by the A.P.A. has not the sympathy of, nor is it indorsed by a large proportion of the members of that organization. Several of the more prominent State offi-cers of it have not hesitated to denounce he attack on McKinley as unjustifiable and devoid of all reason. They took the charges made, and on which the attack was based and found them to be without foundation. They do not hesitate, therefore, to say that the organization, as such, committed a grievous error in McKinley. It is not, therefore, a matter of surprise that the action taken by the A.P.A. should have aroused a storm of indignation throughout the length Kinley's Americanism and patriotism, book to any and all who will take the time to examine it. His record as a man and a citizen is above and beyond all suspicion. These things being dent that there exist no grounds on which the A.P.A., even in justice to itself, can antagonize Maj. McKinley. Any attempt to do so is an admission had forfeited all claims to consideration, (Toledo Blade:) The advisory board of the American Protective Association has issued a circular concerning the Republican Presidential candidates, their efforts being waged in an unjust

Republican Presidential candidates, intended to control, if possible, the action of members of that order. It is simply a pronouncement against Maj. McKinley, for the alleged reason that he, as Governor of Ohio, discriminated "in his appointments in favor of Romanists and against American Protestants, because the latter were members of the American Protective Association."

bers of the American Protective Association."

The Blade is in a position to say that these charges are not true.

What makes these charges more absurd is the fact that an organization of Irish Roman Catholics—the Clan-na-Gael—is bitterly opposed to Mc-Kinley because he would not as Governor pardon one of the Elliott brothers and parole the other. These men are in the penitentiary for a brutal double murder, in open day, on the streets of Columbus. The Governor took the proper ground that these cases must be treated on their merits; that he would not interfere with the penitentiary board in the matter of the parole of one, not the pardon board in the other, as they had, under law, full power.

We believe the reak and file of the we believe the rank and file of the A.P.A. are men who are fair-minded and just, and we doubt if the action of the advisory board of the order will meet with general indorsement. It is false to start with; and its action has master.

The man or woman who fails to see "Pudd'head Wilson" will miss one of the richest dramatic treats of the last dozen years in the history of the American stage. It will be presented again tonight, the engagement closing tomorrow evening. There will also be a no one will complain. But it is infamous to attempt to mislead men by cir-culating such stories without offering proof. In point of fact, there are no proofs, for the allegations are lies.

Committing an Error. (St. Paul Pioneer Press:) The A.P.A. disgusted with William McKinley and has formally put him under the oan, because he would not committee of their organizati ommittee of their organization or an-wer their telegrams catechising him as to his views on certain subjects in their line. Maj. McKinley did well in refusing to receive them or to have anything to do with the representatives of that secret political association. First, because it is a secret political association. There is no place in this free country for darklantern, underground political organizations. If its proceedings and purposes will not bear the light of free and open discussion it cannot claim the right of respectful recognition by any candidate for office. Radically un-American in form, it is still more radically un-American in its programme of proscription and intolerance. For it strikes at that principle of religious liberty which is held sacred by every patriotic American citizen. The time will come when those now connected with it will be ashamed that they had allowed their religious prejudices to betray them into this dark conspiracy against the most precious, as it is the most distinctive, principle of true Americanism. It will pass through the same experience as its progenitor, Knownothingism, and end in sinking into the same ignominious grave and covered with the same odium. Having disposed of McKinley, they are now in full tilt after Reed. And if Reed shall decline to recognize their right to catechise him or to accommodate himself to their views. he, too, will doubtless be put on their black list. And the further they go on in interrogating candidates for the presidency the more rebuffs they will receive from them, until they have written all the Republican candidates in that roll of honor. his views on certain subjects in the ne. Maj. McKinley did well in refusin

"To Hold Them All Up." "Te Hold Them All Up."
(Portland Oregonian:) It is said to be he purpose of the A.P.A. to hold up all he Presidential candidates, one after nother. They are giving attention to he Republicans first, for obvious reacons. Democratic Presidential canditates are hard to find. They seem to have singled out McKinley for attack, but this is only because they began with him. They are now putting Reed hrough the same catechism, and probably will put him under the ban next. Then it will be the turn of Allison and McKinley is anothems to the A.P.A., not for anything he has done, but comen because he would not entertain a committee of the order, nor answer letters and telegrams requiring him to pledge support to certain objects sought by them. Probably the A.P.A. will have the same experience with all promises.

candidates. No man of self-respect can permit himself to be catechized and pledged by a secret political organisation, whose objects, so far as they are known, are tainted with religious and race proscription. No candidate who has anything to lose can afford to put himself in the hands of a body whose own strength is uncertain, and which has inspired the bitterest hostility on the part of a large class of American citizens and the distrust of all outside of its own secret conclaves. It is reasonably certain that the A.P.A. will have the same experience with Reed, Allison and Morton that it has had with McKinley.

(Toledo Blade:) The Blade, within the past week, has received a number of letters from its weekly readers, largely from California and the other Pacific States, inquiring as to McKinley's religious belief, and some inclosing printed slips, clipped from A.P.A. newspapers of that section, making the same charges formulated by the advisory board of the A.P.A. at Boston, and others equally false.

charges formulated by the advisory board of the A.P.A. at Boston, and others equally false.

By way of preface, let.us remark that all this matter is un-American and proscriptive. The men who are urging this crusade are violating the spirit of the Federal Constitution, which provides for absolute freedom of religious bellef. Now, for the matter of McKinley's views and the charges against him:

Maj. McKinley is of Scotch descent. His ancestors were Scotch Presbyterians. His grandfather was a Revolutionary soldier. Maj. McKinley has been all his life a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. He is one of the trustees of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Canton, O., his home; he has been a member of this church ever since he has lived in Canton, and his mother also belongs to it. Mrs. McKinley was brought up in the Presbyterian church, but on her marriage joined her husband's church, and every Sunday finds the major and his wife in attendance. None of his family ever were Catholics, nor is it true that he is of Irish descent.

He is not a member of the Y.M.I. (the Catholic society corresponding to the attendance. None of his family ever were Catholics, nor is it true that he is of Irish descent.

He is not a member of the Y.M.I. (the Catholic society corresponding to the Young Men's Christian Association;) nor is he a member of the Knights of St. Patrick, nor of the Order of Hibernians, nor of any other Roman Catholic society of any kind. The only secret orders to which he belongs are the Masonic order, in which he is a Knight Templar; the Knights of Pythias, the G.A.R. and Union Veterans' Union, and a Greek letter college fraternity. Nor is his private secretary, James Boyle, affiliated with the Catholic church in any way. He and his wife belong to the Protestant Episcopal denomination, and are communicants of Trinity Church, Columbus.

Now, as to the charges of the advisory board of the A.P.A. The first is that under McKinley's administration, an old soldier was dimissed who was janitor the State Library, because he was an A.P.A., and that a Catholic was appointed in his place. The facts are that the old soldier and member of the A.P.A. was a Democrat, who had been appointed by Gov. Campbell, and who went to Gov. McKinley and offered to become a Republican if retained in his position. Gov. McKinley appointed a man to the place who was a Republican from principle, and not from hope of gain. The appointee was selected by State Librarian Smith, because he is a zealous Republican and had done effective work for his party; he is lame, and while able to do his janitor work thoroughly, is not physically strong enough for work at his trade.

Another charge is that Gov. McKinley refused to appoint W. W. Lanning as oll inspector for the Columbus district, because he was a member of the A.P.A. and that he blunity gave that as the reasyn why he could not appoint Mr. Lanning went to Gov. McKinley and told him that he (Lanning), would like to have the olf inspectorship in case L. W. Buckmaster who then held the position, was not reappointed. He said that he wanted to see Mr. Buckmaster reappointed, and thought he ought than he is.

These charges, and a swarm of simi

These charges, and a swarm of similar ones, were started in Columbus months ago by a little clique of political hacks, who opposed McKinley because they could not get office. The people of Ohlo who know McKinley, know their faisity. They are now exploited in those States which have yet to select delegates, and especially on the Pacific Coast, in a desperate effort to stem the tide of popular feeling in favor of McKinley's nomination.

We believe the rank and file of the membership of the A.P.A. to be honest, sincere men. An effort is making to membership of the A.P.A. to be honest, sincere men. An effort is making to mislead them by a junta of political bosses, who are opposed to McKinley because he will not promise them patronage in return for their support. McKinley only desires that the truth shall be told of him. His record is open as the day, and he will stand on it. But this campaign of defamation and falsehood will not effect its object. Falsehood never thrives. It overthrows the short-sighted men who use it. We put too high an estimate on the intelligence of the American people to imagine that they can be misled by these vile fabrications.

(Cleveland World:) The indignation aroused by the cowardly attacks made on the character of William McKinley by certain members of the A.P.A. is on the character of William McKinley by certain members of the A.P.A. is daily growing, and so intense is the disgust which has been aroused in all fair-minded people that the order is likely to suffer materially in the estimation of the public at large.

The latest development in the case comes in the form of an open letter from R. A. Cassidy, formerly Mayor of the city of Canton, and who is also ex-national councillor of the United American Mechanics—a patriotic order, by the way, which is worthy of the name, and whose members would scorn to stoop to the reprehensible conduct which has lately characterized a small portion of the A.P.A.

A Boston gentleman wrote asking Mr. Cassidy concerning the statement that Mr. McKinley, while Governor, appointed a foreigner to an office in preference to an old soldier. His reply was made public Friday, and is as follows:

"My Dear Sir: Yours of the 8th instreceived, Concerning Gov. McKinley's Americanism, I can speak advisedly, having known him intimately for more than thirty years. His patriotism is fully attested by an honorable (and for one so young at the time) distinguished service in the army during four years of war, rising solely by his personal worth and abilities from the ranks as a common soldier to commissioned staff duty.

"Never swerved by considerations of political expediency, he has always and everywhere stood four square in advocacy of the purest and highest conceptions of true Americanism, and no man in public life has done more than he to exalt, dignify and foster American labor.

"He is too broad a man to proscribe or ostracize any class of other true."

foundation in fact, and is evidently the outgrowth of disappointment to get office or inspired by factional or political malice. No man who knows William McKinley as everybody knows him here, would countenance for a moment any statement that reflects upon his devotion to the rights of his comrades in arms, and none who would so quickly resent such an imputation as the old soldiers themselves.

He has belonged to the same G.A.R. post of which I am a member since it has been a post — about twenty-five years—is a member of several other fraternities with which I am connected, comes of the mest sterling Methodist church from his youth; he and his wife, with his mother (his father being dead) and sister, resident in this city, being connected with the some society—the First Methodist Episcopal Church—to which I belong.

'In short, William McKinley is a typical American, a Christian gentleman, a statesman, the integrity of whose consecration to the interests of the country is unassailable, and you can confidently assure the brethren throughout New England that if chosen for the Presidency he will give the country the most thoroughly American administration it has ever had. Fraternally yours, R. A. CASSIDY."

What Prominent Democrats Say.

(Washington Star:) If the published statements of Judge Stevens, the head of the advisory board of the A.P.A. are true, then if McKinley is nominated the order will oppose him and the Republican party, no matter what the declarations in the platform. The order will next make a fight in the National Democratic Convention. It will ask for recognition and for the nomination of a man not antagonistic to its principles and tenets. Will this recognition be given? The question appears to be answered by the fact that all the prominent Democrats who have spoken so far have denounced the order. Senator Daniel and ex-Gov. Russell declared their purpose at the Jeffersonian celebration at Charlottesville the other day to fight the A.P.A. in the convention at Chicago, and both of them are expected to be at the convention. Other Democrats who talk privately amounce the same intention. The prospect then, it is said, is that both parties will directly or indirectly declare against the A.P.A. What Prominent Democrats Say.

No Grounds for a Fight.

(San Bernardino Sum.) The announcement made several days ago that the A.P.A. was trying to defeat McKimley for the momination was probably "a weak invention of the enemy." Leading officials of the order deny that the question of supporting or opposing particular candidates has as yet been discussed, and this denial is no doubt made in good faith, since it is rather early for the A.P.A. to concern itself with the personnel of the ticket to be nominated at St. Louis so much as the declaration of principles to be adopted. It is said the organization will make a demand on all three of the national conventions for the insertion of planks in the platforms favoring restriction of immigration and a non-sectarian school system, and opposing appropriations for any sect, church or sectarian institution. These principles embody the American idea, and are not exclusively the property of the A.P.A., or any other organization, and Mr. McKimley will probably have no hesitation in subsorbing to them. For this reason any announcement that the A.P.A. is working against the Ohioan must be taken cum grano salls, doubtless being inspired by candidates who are ingloriously leading a forlorn hope.

In years of inadequate rainfall the advantage of irrigation is made more than ordinarily apparent. Happily, this succulent grass always yields heav-ily, as many as seven crops being har-vested in a single year by some growers.

With oil in Los Angeles and coal in San Bernardino county, the fuel prob-lem bids fair to present few difficulties in Southern California. Forty years have worked wonders in its transportation facilities for Call-fornia. A Pomona couple, who have just celebrated their fortieth wedding just celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary, came to the Coast in 1856 in a prairie schooner drawn by au ox team, experiencing severe hardship. That was their wedding trip, and they took the easiest overland conveyance. Now, seven transcontinental railways are open to traffic and newly-wedded couples can cross the mountains and plains with less inconvenience.

A San Diego veteran tells a story of a Mrs. war incident amusing as well as includ-ing a bit of oft applicable philosophy. Gen. The elated officer, while his forces were apparently succeeding, wrote a dispatch to McClellan about as wrote a dispatch to McClelian about as follows: "We have met the enemy six times and are driving him before us." But before dispatching the courier the ardent brigadier found that the wily enemy was closing about him in an overwhelming force, so he added to his dispatch: "P. S. Please send me another brigade to help me let go."

Some forty individuals, more or less, came flocking around the Police Station to try to ball Brandemore out, but the desk clerk declared he must stay in jail all night. Sunday morning he was admitted to ball in the sum of $20.

Brandemore and ex-Detective Bosqui were living in the same hotel. They had been acquainted in New York. Bosqui felt disposed to help Brandemore out of a bad scrape. So yesterday he went to the Police Court, swore to a complaint charging Brandemore with disturbing the peace, told Justice Morrison the man pleaded guilty, that he had been intoxicated the night before, and so Brandemore paid a $3 fine, and left for Chicago.

When Officer Johnson made his appearance in the Police Court, expecting to swear out a disturbance-of-the-peace complaint against Brandemore, he found the man had already paid a light fine, and gone his way. The policeman was angry, for the case was an aggravated one, in that Brandemore had interfered with an officer, and had all the facts been brought out, he would probably have been heavily fined. Then Officer Johnson swore to a complaint charging Brandemore with interfering with an officer, but the bird had already flown.

As Brandemore bade good-by to Clerk Everett, he smiled at him cheerfully, and said: "The next time I'm caught in a scrape of this kind in a Los Angeles flesta, don't fine me $3, fine me $305.

Mrs. Withers was assisted by Mmes. Alen and Miss Withers. A delightful programme was rendered. Miss Minkler and Mr. Mayblin rendered vocal solos, Miss Preston a violin solo, and Miss Haynes and Miss Withers plano solos. After the refreshments were served the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing. About one hundred guests were present. Mrs. Withers wore a pretty gown of silverty gray silk trimmed with pale blue chiffon. The rooms were effectively decorated with quantities of flowers. In the drawing-room, white roses and asparagus were used, and the library was bright with red roses. The mantel was a solid bank of Henrietta roses, and branches and bowlfuls of the same flowers were arranged about the room. In the dining-room there was a delicate tracery of gold of ophir roses about the frieze, and the buffet was massed with them. The stairway in the hall was wreathed with pink ivy geranium.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

in the Annexed Suburbs.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education last evening, the committee appointed to receive the property of the recently-annexed territory to the city, for school purposes, reported that, after fraguent conferences with the County Superintendent, it was found that no school district was entirely included, and that altogether many difficulties were found; that, upon a petition of the outside territory, the Board of Supervisors annexed the same to the city for school purposes, with the exception of Vernon; that, on the advice of the City Attorney, all districts, contracts, etc, should be allowed to remain as they now are until the end of this school year; that the city Board of Education should take control of the said district, and that the teachers and all other expenses be paid out of the funds belonging to said districts. This report was adopted by the board, with the recommendation contained therein.

Secretary Dandy was instructed by the board to advertise for bids to supply the schools with music books and charts for a term of four years, as the present contract expires June 30, 1896.

Boyd-street school had been effected, and the deed to the same received. The secretary was instructed to have the deed recorded. The price paid for the lot was $600.

The Finance Committee reported, approving bills amounting to $424.10. The report was adopted by the board.

Secretary Dandy notified the board that a summons from the Superior Court had been served upon the directors to answer to a complaint filed by Hugh Todd, an architect, who claims that for services rendered the board in 1892 he is entitled, and has been since August, 1892, to $500. The summons was referred to the president, who will confer with the City Attorney regarding the matter.

A motion of Director Pitman's, that no public exercises be held by the High School pupils this year, with the exception of the regular graduating exercises, was made the occasion of some rather tiresome discussion. To cut this off, and because he had an imperative engagement, Director Pitman withdrew his motion, announcing that at some future meeting he would bring up the question.

THE WILSHIRE RAILWAY.

THE WILSHIRE RAILWAY.

The question of advertising for sale an electric railway franchise, on certain streets in the vicinity of Westlake Park, as petitioned for by the Wilshire Bros., created a lively discussion in the Council. As printed in The Times of yesterday, propertyowners in the vicinity had prepared, and yesterday presented to the Council, a strong protest against the granting of the franchise. Their protest was gotten up as follows, being signed by about sixty persons:

cil, a strong protest against the granting of the franchise. Their protest was gotten up as follows, being signed by about sixty persons:

"To the Honorable City Council:
We, the undersigned property-owners of this city, learning that a franchise known as the 'Wilshire Electric Railway Franchise,' for a double track electric line of railway beginning at Seventh and Alvarado streets, extending out Seventh street to Rampart, north on Rampart street Rampart, north on Rampart street to Sixth street thence east on Sixth street to Alvarado street, also on Lake street from Eighth to Ninth street will be brought before your honorable body for action today; and as every owner of property on said block, now we foun them by entering this our earnest protest against your honorable body granting any franchise for any line of railroad on Seventh street, along the front of the park. Such a franchise would be a great detriment to the free public use of Seventh street, along the front of the park and music stand, endangering the lives of the popple who drive out and stand their carriages along the park front to listen to the music. We feel that this popular park should be kept as a breathing place for the people of the city and not obstructed but kept safe and free to the people, who should be made to respect. Asking that seventh street may not be given to the Consolidated Railway Company or any other railroad, we will ever pray."

A council chamber, and for an hour and a half arguments from the railway's representatives and the property-owners and the property-owners and the property-owners and the property on the east side of Spring street, attorney investigate the matter of title to property on the east side of San Pedro street and northeast corner of Fifth street, Adopted. Also, that the City English to property on the test street and now feel in by Councilman Pessell, that the City English tha

Superintendent notify the contractor who is to improve Thompson street, to preserve and relay the wooden crosswards for sale the franchise. Both idea were represented on the floor of the Council chamber, and for an hour of a half arguments from the railway's appreentatives and the property-owning in opposition to the matter were sard by the Council.

It was urged that to grant the franchise the water-way across Adams street, between Hooper street and Orange avenue, with a flume twelve inches square. Adopted.

chise would deprive the people who occupy Seventh street opposite Westlake Park with their carriages Sunday afternoon and listen to the music, of this enjoyment. In reply to this it was said that the people who rode in carriages were not the ones that should be protected, but rather the people who pay their nickels, and ride on a street car to the park. The entire question was quite thoroughly gone over, in the discussion, and when all concerned had had their say. President Teed took the floor and moved to amend the route of the proposed rallway by striking out Seventh street, between Lake and Alvarado streets, which is the part of the street directly opposite the band stand in the park. His motion carried, and as thus amended, the franchise was ordered advertised for saie.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Council Will Have Another Try at the Refunding Bonds.

By adopting the following report of the City Attorney yesterday, the Council decided to make another trial of the refunding bonds proposition:

"To the Finance Committee of the City Council of the city of Los Angeles. At your request; I have examined the question of refunding the old debt of the city under the recent decisions of the Supreme Court. The opinion of the cutr is favorable to the city on every point discussed or raised by the attorneys for the prospective purchasers of the bonds attempted to be issued last year; and in view of the fact that the court has decided the constitutional questions which were considered of greatest importance, in favor of the-city. I have determined that it would not be wise to file a petition for a rehearing of the case simply because the court has decided that the bonds must be made payable in this city instead of in New York, as heretofore. It is, of course, desirable that interest and principal coupons should be made payable in New York, for the convenience of the bond buyer. But this is not a vital matter, and, in my opinion, when bond buyers understand that the decision of the Supreme Court makes it necessary that our bonds should be made payable at the office of the City Treasurer, the value of the bond will not be affected by this change. As I have said, I am therefore of the opinion that on a rehearing of the matter we would have little to gain, with the possibility of much to lose. Not only our own municipality in the State, so far as I know, are all issued payable in some eastern money center, and we could not have anticipated the overturning of this well settled practice after many years upon constitutional grounds. It is, however, the law now, and I advise you that bonds hereaftor issued must be made payable in the city of Los Angeles.

"The decision of the Supreme Court is somewhat uncertain as to the different steps to be taken in the issuance of bonds when the formation of the Supreme Court does not in his well as years and there to the the East.

"If the suggestions made by me are adopted by your committee, I shall be pleased to meet with you and prepare the preliminary steps necessary to carry out my suggestions."
The necessary preliminary steps will be arranged for this week, and definite action taken in the matter next Monday.

action taken in the matter next mon-day.

The City Attorney reported on other matters referred to him, as follows:

"I herewith present ordinance for the improvement of Marion avenue, in ac-cordance with petition of Mary C. Still-son." Adopted.

The City Clerk reported as follows to the Council: "In the matter of the opening of Eighteenth street from Hope street to Grand avenue, the report of the commissioners, together with the plat of the assessment district, was filed March 24. On March 25 the notice of the filing of said report and plat was published. The last day on which protests could be filed was April 25. On April 17 the protest of W. Wright et al., was filed, which protest is herewith presented. It will now be in order for your honorable body to set a time for hearing said protest not less than one week from this date."

The protest, which reads as follows, was set to be heard next Monday.

nonorable body to set a time for hearing said protest not less than one week from this date."

The protest, which reads as follows, was set to be heard next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

"No petition asking for said opening was ever signed by us, and we believe no petition was circulated.

"All the damages should have been assessed on the property through which the street is to be opened, as that property receives all the benefit, and no compensation was allowed to other property-owners on the portion of the street already opened, for the land taken for the street.

"The representatives of the owners of the property to be taken have promised to open the street without compensation, and induced other owners to open the street by such promises made to them, and they have no right to compensation now for land to be taken for a street which was opened by their solicitation. This is giving a premium for bad faith and want of public spirit. "Since proceedings to open the street were commenced the attorney for owners of land to be taken has offered to open the street, provided a small strip of land adjoining the property and valued at about $100 was purchased for them, and they ought not to be allowed a greater compensation than they offered to take. We, therefore, protest against the award and assessment, and ask that the proceedings be dismissed or some relief be given from this unjust assessment."

The City Clerk submitted this additional report to the Council:

"I herewith submit deeds from J. A. Rokohol, dated the 13th day of March, 1896, and from Caroline E. Merriam et al., dated the 25th day of April, 1896, which deeds are for the land necessary for the widening of Shatto street from Vernon street to Union avenue. as described by ordinance No. 3506 (new series,) which is the ordinance of intention to widen Shatto street from Vernon street to Union avenue. These deeds have been handed to me with the instructions to submit them to the Council; and to record them upon your order, provided the pending proceedings proceedings."

The clerk was instructed to record the deeds. George Zobelein complained to the Council that by reason of the uneven grade of Figueros street before his property, stagnant water has accumulated, creating a nuisance on the street. The cleaning of the street has been ordered, but the petitioner avers that the work has not yet been commenced, and asks relief at once. The petition was referred to the Board of Public Works.

W. S. Wright, acting agent of the Peck Lighting Company, notified the Council that the City Hall electric wiring system has been connected with the company's plant, and that light was furnished in the hall Sunday evening.

Mr. Wright asked that the fixtures, interior wiring, etc., in the hall be put in shape for use, promising that so soon as they are put in shape the light will be furnished. The matter was referred to the Gas and Light Committee.

The Health Officer had the following report before the Council; "I desire to call your attention to the fact that all the closets in the City Hall were useless this morning on account of the defective water supply pipe put in the tanks in such a way as will admit of all the supply pipes being fed directly from this main. Until this is done I believe twe will always have trouble to flush the fixtures properly."

The matter was referred to the Sewer Committee.

A petition from Wolfe & Duncan asking permission to lay a car track in the bed of the Los Angeles River to enable them to take sand and gravel from the river was denied by the Council.

"An ordinance changing and establishing the grade of Truman street from a point 500 feet north of Pasadena avenue to Humboldt street." Adopted.

LYTLE CREEK WATER.

A Big Irrigation Suit Gets Into

The suit of the Lytle Creek Water nd Improvement Company against the Grapeland Irrigation District and others was called in Department Six yesterday. Plaintiff is represented by Messrs. F. W. Gregg. H. A. Barclay Will Harris and J. S. Chapman. The defendants' interests are being guarded by Messrs. H. C. Rolfe, A. B. Hotchkiss, J. W. Stephenson and T. O. Hough defendants interests are being guarded by Messrs. H. C. Rolfe, A. B. Hotch kins, J. W. Stephenson and T. O. Houghton.

New Istephenson and T. O. Houghton.

The plaintiff claims to be the owner over 28,000 acres of land through which Lytie Creek flows, and asserts the right of its use to the exclusion of forty-eight defendants, and asks the court for an order perpetually enjoining the following-named defendants from interfering with the said waters: Grapeland Irrigation District, Lytle Creek water Company, A. B. Hotchkiss, W. G. Daniel, Eliza Ousterhout, J. L. Ousterhout, W. D. Nevin, J. R. Nevin, R. J. Brannaugh, William Westor, Theodore Williams, R. H. Gillesple, John C. Williams, — Carter, John Doe Nelson, C. B. Hughes, John Morgan, J. H. Byrne, John Ramsbotton, J. A. Mervick, W. D. Hunt, John H. Paine, J. O. Turley, J. N. Miller, J. W. Johnson, Dr. G. A. Rene, H. Bradshaw, Joseph-A. Scott, E. T. Myers, the nimerous Doe Esmilly, John L. Campbed, J. L. Adams, A. G. Fier, L. N. Breed, John Doe McChre, William Roe Sternard and John Company elaims to be-successor to the Semi-Tropic Land and Water Company, and the Lytie Creek Water Company, and the Lytie Creek Water Company by purchase; and that tille to such lands was acquired from the Mexican government, which was duly confirmed and patent issued June 21s72, by the government of the United States. These lands are situated in what is known as the Rancho Muscuplabe, upon which are the townsites of Rialto, Bloomington, Tontane and Sansevaine. Lytle Creek vans through these lands a distance of niem liles. A cement ditch two feet wide in the bottom, three feet deep and five feet wide on the top has been constructed by the company for a distance of seven miles, to provide water for Irrigating and domestic purposes for 1000 actual settlers or inhabitants of the lands and town sites above described, upon which important of the surface of the province of the company for a distance of seven miles, to provide water for Irrigating and domestic purposes for 1000 actual settl uous trees, grapes, etc., is alleged to be 6000. Cost of the ditch, pipe lines, etc., is placed at $229,000.

Plaintiffs further allege that the Grapeland Irrigation District and others will direct a large portion of said waters at Station No. 42 by means of a tunnel and ditches unless restrained, etc.

This suit has been in the courts since August 9, 1892, and has been contested step by step. Probably not less than 125 documents, such as answers, demurrers, motions, etc., have been filed since the institution of the suit, asking for judgment to all of aforesaid waters and demanding the setting forth of claims of defendants.

The Lytle Creek Water Company sets forth a general denial and alleges fraud from the Semi-Tropic Land and Water Company.

A. B. Hotchkiss also enters a general denial of acquirement of title, and contests many points of the complaint. He further declares his intention to put a dam in the creek and construct a reservoir at Miller's Narrows, and alleges that such intended action has been approved by the State Debris Commission.

The suit will probably continue throughout the week, and is among the largest ever on trial in this courty.

John Ross, charged with entering the cuse of Mrs. L. Meindel on March house of Mrs. L. Meindel on March 1, 1896, and abstracting three silk dresses therefrom, was arraigned in Department One yesterday, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in Folsom, Before pronouncing sentence, Judge Smith questioned the prisoner regarding the crime and his previous history, and occupation. Ross said he committed the deed from poverty; that this was his first offense, and he had been driven to it through sickness. He was a painter, and had resided in this city for a little over three years. Ross is 35 years of age, and having no wife, children or others dependent upon him, Judge Smith could see no other extenuating circumstances connected with the

The trial of Thomas Harvey, charge with the theft of a buggy and harne owned by I. Wickersham, a liveryma January 31, 1896, was called in Department One yesterday morning. A just was quickly empaneled and but litting was consumed in available.

The main effort of the defense was in the direction of reducing the value of the buggy and harness to a point within the limit of the orime of petty larceny. The owner of the property, his son and George Rixon placed the value at from $35 to $45. Nothing of a sensational character was developed. The testimony tended to show that George E. Hamilton, a telegraph operator, brakeman and switchman, had hired the rig at the request of Harvey and Clifford and knew nothing further about the culminating events. The property was discovered in the possession of Harvey and Clifford next day by Wickersham's son, who followed the men from San Pedro street to a point two or three miles down the river, striving to overcome Harvey's obstinacy in refusing to surrender the outfit. George Dixon, an employe of Wickersham, finally came to the rescue. Defendant still refused to surrender the property and claimed to own the horse. Dixon said he would make them give up the property and Harvey made some remark to the effect that murder would have to be committed, and walked around the vehicle with his hands in his coat pocket. Dixon went back and got a gun, and when he returned he fired a shot into the ground. This frightened the men and they ran down the river bank among the willows. The horse, which had been unhitched, was now fastened to the buggy, and young Wickersham and Dixon returned with the property. These were the principal facts drawn out.

At 4 o'clock last evening the jury retired, the cause having finally been submitted.

At 9 p.m. the jury brought in a verdict of guilty of petty larceny.

A remittitur has been received from the Supreme Court affirming the deci-sion of Judge Smith in the Louie Foo case in which the Chinaman shot at a coun-tryman. The cause was tried about seven months ago, and resulted in Foo-being sentenced to two years' confine-ment in Folsom.

Amateur Burglar Detected by His Footprints in Mud.

Burt Fancher, a lazy waiter out of a job, is locked up in the City Jail on a charge of ekeing out his meager income by robbing a cash register.

At No. 1212 West Washington street is a drug store owned by Brown Bros. Some time between 8 o'clock and midmight last Thursday a burglar entered the store, carried the cash register out into the back yard, opened it by pressing on the "No sale" key, and took out its contents, $12.50 in silver and small change and $5 in gold.

The police were notified of the burglary and Detectives Auble and Hawley went to work on the case. Suspicion fell upon Burt Fancher, a man about 33 years old, who lives with his wife and child on Sherman street, near Freeman. Fancher is a waiter by trade, known to be out of work and out of money. Thursday evening, the time the burglary was committed, he was seen near Brown Bros.' drug store. Later in the evening he was seen in the company of women of the town, roystering and carousing, and the rest of the night he spent in playing poker.

The detectives pald a call upon Fancher and asked him how it was that on Thursday evening, just as the pageant of the "Lands of the Sun" was passing along the street, he had left the center of town and gone out on West Washington street, three miles away, taking two hours to the trip. Fancher's explanation was very lame. He declared he had gone out to meet his wife, but instead of going to his home, a block away, loitered near the drug store, expecting to see her go by on every car. He said he grew discouraged at last and went downtown again.

That Fancher had been seen near the drug store about the time the burglary must have happened; that a previously almost penniless man should pass the night in carousing and playing poker, all this looked like very damaging evidence against the man. Another thing was discovered which drew the net of testimony still closer around him. In the rear of the drug store is a little yard. The cesspool is overflowing, and the water which oozes up makes a muddy place which never dries up. Every one acquainted with the premises takes a path around the mudpuddle whenever venturing into the yard. In examining the place the morning after, the burglary occurred, the prints of two feet, clad in wide, squaretoed shoes, with worn soles, were found clearly impressed in the mud. Fancher's shoes were examined. They precisely fitted the footprints. The leather of the soles was much worn, and the curves of the ragged edges of the holes were all precisely the same as the marks in the mud, curve for curve, angle for angle.

Burt Fancher was arrested last Friday, but he was not booked until yesterday.

Fancher was arrested over a year ago for several minor offenses.

P. R. Willis, Esq. I came from Iowa and Allison is my first choice. For forty years he has been in public life, and there is not a blot on his record. But Allison's nomination is possible only in the event of McKinley's overwhelming popularity being overcome. The Ohlo man is preëminently the choice of the party, and for that reason I favor sending a McKinley delegation to St Louis I should not favor an instructed delegation, but think, in deference to party sentiment on this Coast, our delegates should stay with McKinley as long as there is a possibility of his nomination No one who is not personally favorable to McKinley can be elected a delegate to St. Louis The result will be determined at the caucus and primary election

H. A. Barcley, Esq. I am from a tariff State, Pennslyvania, and favor McKinley above all other candidates as embodying better than all the rest the fundamental principles of the protective policy. In point of popularity I believe Reed ranks next, and Allison third. The tariff issue is, however, of prime importance in this compaign, and if we want McKinley delegates to the district and State conventions. I am a believer in the effectiveness of caucus tickets. McKinley men should be there and get the right men nominated for the indorsement of the primarles.

John C. Cline. The caucus is the place to lay the foundation for a McKinley delegation. We will have it and will look after the interests of the Ohlo candidate from the beginning. I helped to organize the McKinley Club and the larger part of those who belong to it are members of the A.P.A. Our membership has swollen to over 400, and the unanimity of sentiment thus expressed shows this organization, which has been alleged to be inlimical to McKinley, to be as heartily in his favor as the rank and file of the Republican party outside of A.P.A. walls. An instructed delegation from California will be secured.

Maj. J. A. Donnell. McKinley being representative of tariff principles is unquestionably the logical candidate. I came from Allison's pend. He asserted that every man who offered himself as a delegate should stand up in the view of all and solemnly pledge his honor to stand firm for William McKinley.

The suggestion was received with tumultuous applause. One or two individuals, claiming to be McKinley men, yet made some faint show of opposition to thus pledging the delegates, but soon gave way to the overwhelming wave of enthusiasm. One by one the thirty men who offered themselves as delegates arose and plighted their troth to fight their best for the apostle of protection.

fight their best for the apostle of protection.

The caucus then proceeded to ballot for nominees for delegates to be voted for at the primaries Wednesday. The voting resulted in the choice of seventeen leading citizens of the Fifth Ward all substantial men and strong in fheir allegiance to McKinley. The men selected were:

T. W. Brotherton, G. S. Dewey,
E. F. C. Klokke, H. M. Lee,
A. C. Shapen, H. J. Shoutters,
A. B. Cass, C. S. Watton,

This closed the business of the evening, and the Fifth Ward Republicans dispersed, with the expressed wish that the caucuses to be held this evening will follow the good example they have set—McKinley and a delegation instructed solidly for McKinley.

Third Ward Republicans. A printed circular has been issued by W. F. X. Parker (Mayor Rader's clerk,) James W. Long and George Sinsabaugh, signing themselves "Assembly District Committee." directed to Third Ward Republicans, calling a caucus at Illinois Hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock, "to select a ticket to be voted for at the primaries which will be held at No. 416 South Broadway on Wednesday the 29th, from 12 to 5 p.m." The call, as signed, has a dubious look. The friends of Maj. McKinley, who vastly outnumber all other Republicans in the ward, should be present at this caucus and primary, and see to it that the will of the people of the ward is not thwarted by the Lindley-Rader-Parker gang.

Sixth Ward. A number of Republicans of the Sixth Ward had a caucus last evening at the corner of Main and Washington streets, but there were not enough of the right kind of men there, as the McKinley men did not have an inning. The McKinley men claim they were not treated right and protest against the cut-and-dried methods employed. They are seriously considering the proposition to hold another caucus this evening, at the time when the other ward caucuses will be held, and endeavor to get fairer treatment. Friends of McKinley must look out or they will get left.

Australian Ballot for Primaries. The Executive Committee of the Sev-nth Ward Republican Club met last enth Ward Republican Club met last evening and resolved to adopt President George W. Knox's plan of voting at tonight's primary, by a modified Australian ballot system. The committee will select a list of prominent Republicans from the various precincts and these will be printed on the tickets, with instructions regarding the number to be voted for, and a blank column where other names can be written in.

Appealing the Berlin Case.

In the case of People vs. Berlin, in which Justice Morrison the other day granted a motion to instruct the jury to acquit, a notice of appeal has been preserved by Departs District Att. prepared by Deputy District Attorney James. Berlin, the defendant, is the erstwhile attorney, who was charged by Ferd Gottschalk and C. S. Parker with having mortgaged household furniture a second time, without notifying the prior mortgagees. The motion to instruct the jury was made upon a technical point of law, which the Deputy District Attorney is desirous of testing upon appeal.

Mrs. Lee Walters, 823 First Street, Los Angeles, Tells the Public How Much Has Been Done for Her.

IN THE HOME REMEDY.

A Peculiar Case of Nervous Dyspepsia, Insomnia and Impure Blood Has Just Been Successfully Cured by the Great Home Remedy, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla-It Has Astonished the Doctors of Los Angeles, Many of Whom are Now Making an Investigation

TRUE AND AUTHENTIC STORY comes from the A TRUE AND AUTHENTIC State of Los Angeles which is really marvelous. It is especially interesting to those suffering from dyspepsia and an impoverished blood, for, while the individual is now permanently cured, many doctors are wondering how the cure was effected, and it is given out that the physicians of Los Angeles are secretely investigating the "formulae" of what is known as Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla.

Four years ago Mrs. Lee Walters was considered one of the handsomest women of Los Angeles. Up to that time she was in perfect health. All of a sudden she developed headaches—dyspepsia. Her case was so painful that many of the best physicians were called in, but they could only give temporary relief.

About a year ago Mrs. Lee Walters began using Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. She has completely recovered her lost health. All the old symptoms have disappeared. She writes for the benefit of those who may be similarly afflicted:

THE EDWIN W. JOY CO., 259 Stevenson Street, San Francisco, Cal.:

Gentlemen—From a deep sense of gratitude I am glad to be able to tell you that I am now a well and hearty woman. All the old symptoms have disappeared. I have no more headaches. They are gone.

You see, my headaches were so awful, so extremely painful, I had to call in many doctors, but was never relieved until I used Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It is such a pleasant medicine. There is no nusty taste to it.

I can eat almost anything and digest well. I sleep every night, My stomach does not fill up and bloat. My digestion is really perfect. I praise the Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and will always recommend it. I stopped using pilis as soon as I began to take Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It is a splendid laxative. Hoping some person will read this who is looking for relief, I wish you God's blessing. (Signed)

Way Up in Masonry.

Florin L. Jones has just returned from the session of the grand bodies of the Kinghts Templars, and the grand chapter of the Royal Arch Masons of the State of California. In the grand chapter he was elected scribe, and was chosen grand standard-bearer of the Grand Commandery, it being an advancement in both positions over the place he held last year. Southern California received charters for two new commanderies, one at Santa Ana and one at Pomona, both of which are under the inspection of Eminent Sir Jones. He also succeeded in convincing Thomas H. Caswell of the supreme council of the A. and A.S.R. that it was for the interest of the rite to grant a dispensation to organize a council of Kadash at Pasadena, of the thirtieth degree. Mr. Jones was deputized inspector-general to constitute that body, at his earliest convenience.

The Pasadena branch office of The Times presented a busy appearance today, the sales of the flesta edition of the Sunday, Times being unprecedented. The total sales today of the flesta Times in Pasadena were 3800 copies. BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, Los Angeles, April 27, 1896.
BRITISH CAPITAL. Money continues to very cheap in Great Eritain, where there are millions of dollars go ing a-begging at 2 per cent. per annum.
Under such circumstances it is not surprising that British capitalists should once more be looking to the United States as a field for investment. Quite a large amount of British capi-tal has come into this State during the past year, and there is more on the past year, and there is more on the way.

There are some who affect to be alarmed by this incursion of British capital, but such apprehensions do not seem to be well founded. California is still very thinly settled, and the development of the immense resources of the State is as yet only in its infancy. What is particularly needed is capital to make these vast resources available for the support of a population ten times as great as the State now contains. It would certainly be foolish for us to sit down and refuse to accept outside aid in this direction, or to wait until the necessary money should be forthcoming from our own citizens. For every dollar that foreign investors make out of development enterprises in California this State will make $10 or more, directly and indirectly. There is a great difference in this respect between foreign capital and foreign manufactures. The latter lessen the opportunities offered to Americans of making a living, while the former increase those opportunities, by unlocking natural resources that must remain dormant until a golden key is found to make them available.

Prohibitory legislation directed golden key is found to make them available.

Prohibitory legislation directed against the investment of capital in California by foreigners is not in the interest of the working classes or of the State at large. It is all very well to have reasonable restriction in regard to the ownership of large tracts of land by foreigners, but the investment of foreign capital should be welcomed—at least until this State becomes so wealthy that we have a surplus of capital to "throw at the birds."

COMMERCIAL.

GROCERY - STORE DEBTS.

GROCERY - STORE DEBTS. In Ohio the Retail Grocers' Association is engaged in trying to pass a State law making 10 per cent. of the wages of a married man subject to garnishment in payment for the necessities of life for the use of his family. The Cleveland News-Heraid says:

"It is easy to understand why the grocers ask for the passage of such a bill. The thousands of dollars of unpaid accounts on the books of the grocers throughout the State show how men earning liberal wages have evaded payment of bills contracted in the purchase of food for their families. There is no class of tradesmen which suffers more from deadbeats than the one which is asking for this legislation. No honest man ought to object to the payment of his honest debts. The grocers themselves believe that, if it were possible to collect a deferred account from every man who is earning wages, it would be a good thing for everybody. It would certainly improve the credit of poor men generally, and enable them to get food supplies on time, where now credit is refused because of natural suspiction in the mind of the tradesman and his knowledge of the fact that he cannot garnishee the wages of a married man to enforce payment of such account."

CHEESE IN SMALL PACKAGES. New York cheese factories are trying a novel way of putting up cheese—that is, all their better grades. Instead of putting them up in cart wheels of twenty or thirty pounds each, they are now packing in half-pound squares, put up in attractive shape and packed two dozen in a box. The advantages are that there is no loss in cutting, and the cheese does not dry out and become hard. The innovation is halled with delight on the part of the trade, but it has not been tried sufficiently as yet to allow a judgment to be formed as to how the public will regard it. CHEESE IN SMALL PACKAGES

INYO COUNTY. For those who are looking for an opportunity to invest somewhere in the Southwest, where an opportunity to make big profits, attention is directed to Inyo county, a section that is at present perhaps more out of the world than any other county in the State. Yet this county is only within a few miles, comparatively, of Los Angeles city, although to reach it by rail at present it is necessary to make a trip of several hundred miles, going through the northern part of the State and Nevada. This will all be changed as soon as a railroad is completed from Los Angeles to Independence, which improvement is not very long distant. Then Inyo county will be reckoned among one of the most important tributary sections of Los Angeles. It is now over twenty years since the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad was commenced for the purpose of bringing that place in communication with tide water. It was completed from Santa Monica to Los Angeles, and there stopped, owing to the failure of Senator Jones's Panamint mines, which are once more being worked with bright prospects.

Inyo county is not only rich in gold and silver, but also in iron, coal, borax, sait and other useful minerals. It has also a large area of excellent agricultural land, which can now be purchased at very low prices, but will undoubtedly advance rapidly as soon as the railroad is completed.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Shares and Money.

(BY ASSOCIATED PIRES WIRE.)

NEW YORK, April 27.—The volume of business in stocks today was fairly large, and the tone of speculation firm throughout. The distribution of business was indifferent. Sugar figured for nearly one-third of the entire dealings, and a respectable demand was reached only by St. Paul in the railway list. A favorable influence upon the market at the outset was the receipt of London cables showing advances in the prices of American securities at that center, and, despite the light dealings in the international group, that class of securities was strong on purchases for foreign account in this market. Some commission houses buying in the standard railway shares were also noted. The London purchases of the railway shares were partly attributed to a rumor that the Pacific Railroad Indebtedness Funding Bill would be rushed through Congress this session. The street attached but slight importance to this theory, and there was scarcely a ripple in the price of the stock. The trading was attended in spots by realization of profus. Sugar was manupulated in rather a bewildering manner, but the stock appeared to be taken on all reactions, and it closed with a gain of 2 per cent. The market closed dull but strong in tone with sharp fractional net gains in the standard railway list. Bonds were less active, but the tone was generally firm, and marked strength was displayed in some instances. The sales were $1.400,000. Northern Pacific collateral trusts advanced 1½, and Nort BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE

Where a Water Carnival Should

SAN DIEGO. April 27.—(Regular Cortespondence.) Visitors to the Los Angles flesta are arriving home heartily pleased with the entertainment of last week. They are free to acknowledge the superiority of Los Angeles in the matter of land carnivals over Santa Barbara or San Diego. They admit that Los Angeles has the "call" on affairs of this kind and that if San Diego proposes to give a festival for the entertainment of Southern California in the future, the people here will do well to make it strictly a water carnivals made here in the past, have been reasonably successful, Although carried out on a successful of the successful on the first of the streat from blocks as strictly in it, and the gaudy warpings of fiesta tissue enlives to tell the tase of past a tissue enlives to tell the tase of streat itssue enlives to tell the tase of streat itssue enlives to tell the tase of limited scale, the water carnival during the visit of the warships here this year gave pleasure to thousands. That was merely a night marine parade. The possibilities of a day and night water carnival of several days duration here are of an extremely wide range. No harbor in the world is better adapted to a season of carnival festivities on the water than is that of San Diego. Even Venice cannot offer better attractions than are found here, in many respects. As the water-carnival place of the Pacific Coast, San Diego ought to be the leader.

A Day of Interesting Games and Lively Races.

RIVERSIDE, April 27.—(Regular Correspondence:) Considerable indignation was felt today by the citizens because the Los Angeles team which was to ride in the relay bicycle race from Los Angeles failed to materialise at the last moment. It is said the cause of the disappointment was the inability of the Los Angeles boys to throw off the fiesta juice absorbed during the previous few days. The Riverside team made the run against time, however, in the quick time of three hours and twenty minutes.

The baseball game between Redlands and Riverside was called at 2 p.m., and proved an interesting game. The game seemed all in favor of Riverside, but Redlands soored six times in the ninth inning, tying the game, and in the tenth Redlands won by the score of 11 to 10.

The mile open bicycle race was won by Shoemaker in 2:32 3-5. The three-mile handloap was won by Cox.

Several Conl Prospects Being De-veloped on the San Timoteo Hills—Claims that the Bed is Six Miles Long and Two Miles Wide.

ular Correspondence.) There is every indication that San Bernardino county is to be a heavy producer of coal. For several weeks parties have been at work on the development of coal pros-pects on the San Timoteo Hills, which form the divide between San Timoteo and Riche cations and traces of coal are found by boring over a territory six miles long and two miles wide, with a prospect that the territory is much larger. Summer Wright of this city has done considerable work on his claim, and has had coal experts on the ground, who desire the respects wellent the and has had coal experts on the ground, who declare the prospects excellent, the best seen in Southern California. Mr. Wright is very reticent in regard to the work he is doing, and has tried to keep the matter out of the papers. When closely questioned, he said he had seen coal which came from the San Timoteo Hills which burned very freely.

The claims of Mr. Wright are on the hills directly across San Timoteo Cañon from Smiley Heights, Redlands, and the shaft he is sinking is but a couple of miles from that town. Other claims are held by G. W. French and Mr. Gass of Coiton, and these gentlemen are preparing to sink shafts to develop their claims. The territory in which tracings of coal are found extend to within four or five miles of Coiton.

A number of parties in that town are taking an interest in the find, and it is safe to say the true value of the coal will be learned before many days.

UNFORTUNATE BUILDING ASSO-

the San Bernardino Land and Building Association, with the evident intent of injuring the reputation of certain men identified with it. The truth of the matter seems to be that some four years ago the association was looted of $4000 or $5000. This affected its credit to such an extent that the affairs of the association were gradually tending toward liquidation. A board of directors of nine members is required by the bylaws, but the membership had dwindled down to seven, and a receivership was inevitable.

LOOKING FOR OIL. REDLANDS, April 27.—Sixteen prom-inent citizens of Redlands and San Bernardino have formed a company to follow petroleum indications between Redlands and Moreno. It has for years been claimed that there are good pros-pects of oil in this vicinity.

SANTA BARBARA, April 27.—(Regular Correspondence.) The municipal election, the Flower Festival, the rain and La Fiesta, all struck this piace hard, but glanced off, leaving us fine weather, good city officials, flattering prospects for future improvements, a fair sprinkling of tourists and plenty of time to prepare for the approaching political eampaign. So far, local political matters are drifting along smoothly, and it is safe to predict that McKinley has already captured Santa Barbara county. There are evidences of unusual interest in the coming primaries, and these evidences point to the voice of the people as the power that has arisen above all bosses and will prevail, untrammeled, from the primaries to the victorious close of the Republican campaign.

SANTA BARBARA OIL.

SANTA BARBARA OIL.

That Santa Barbara is one vast oilfield is yet to be demonstrated, but such are the convictions of mineralogists and oil experts who have had experience and who have investigated this field. They are now pumping oil from over fifty wells at Summerland, and ready sale is found at 60 cents per barrel. More wells are being put down daily, and the location and extent of the oil-bearing sand bed is being gradually defined. It is only about 140 feet to oil, along the line of the railroad, and the thickness of the oil-bearing stratum varies from seven to ninety feet. Some believe that the main oil stratum varies from seven to ninety feet. Some believe that the main oil deposit centers out in the ocean, while others contend that the great source is back in the Montectto Hills, where indications are abundant and prospecting is now going on. These outcroppings are seen throughout the county and extensive developments are beling prosecuted in the Sisquoc Hills, in the northern part of the county. All local trains use oil for fuel, as do all local factories or places where engines or boilers are used.

WILL BE APPEALED

WILL BE APPEALED.

Judge Day, who is an attorney in the noted Fernandez case, stated this morning that, although a decree has been entered settling final accounts, it is his opinion that the matter will be appealed. Fernandez died in 1893, leaving a will covering an estate estimated at about $60,000. The will was set aside. Miguel Burke, present Tax Collector of this county, was appointed administrator, and the matter has been settling up ever since The personal property was estimated at $26,000, but all that has been realized by the estate is about $12,000. There has been a great depreciation in realty values, and the operating expenses have exceeded the income some $4000. All the claims presented were allowed by the Superior Court, and Judge Day thinks he can see in recent developments a hedging against an appeal, but he considers an appeal almost inevitable.

SHE DID AND SHE DIDN'T. WILL BE APPEALED.

SHE DID AND SHE DIDN'T. SHE DID AND SHE DIDN'T.

A certain married woman living in Santa Barbara, appeared before Judge Crane last Saturday, and swork out a complaint against her husband, accusing him of extreme cruelty, and she bore abundant evidence to the fact by the many scars and bruises on her person. She said she supported her family with her needle and that she could stand such inbuman treatment no longer. She returned today and withdrew her charges, stating that she and her husband had come to an understanding, and that they had agreed to separate, and say nothing about it.

This is the season of the year when wool-growers ahip their spring clip to the eastern markets, and the news that the old rates are to be restored is welcome news for them. The wool-rates apply from all California terminals on the lines of the Southern Pacific Company.

MAY NOT GRANT A DECREE. MILWAUKEE (Wis.,) April 27.—Not-withstanding the apparent unanimity of all the factions in the Northern Pacific case, Judge Jenkins is evidently opposed to granting a decree at the present time. It may be days before the matter is satisfactorily arranged. The Judge is apparently determined thoroughly to dissect the proposed decree, and has ordered it gone over, section by section. Before Attorney Tunner had read the first line Judge Jenkins proposed a change. He remarked that the proceedings were rather peculiar, and then he informed the attorneys that the court was yielding something in considering the application for the decree at this time.

POMONA.

POMONA, April 27.—(Regular Correspondence.) The fortieth wedding anniversary of George Wilson and wife was celebrated at their home near Lemon station on Saturday evening, and the aged couple's sons and daughters and twenty-two grandchildren from Los Angeles, Santa Ana and San Bernardino were present. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were presented a purse of $100 in gold by their children, and a quantity of provisions were put on the pantry shelves by the grandchildren. It was a very happy home gathering, and will be remembered with pleasure by every one present for many long years. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were married in Columbia, Mo., in 1856, and the next day after their marriage they started for California in a prairie schooner drawn by an ox team. They met with the severest hardships of any party of travelers across the plains and mountains in the summer of their coming to the Golden State.

R. F. House is recovering from a brief spell of iliness last week.

patriotism of Maj. William McKinley?
If he has not a thoroughly American and patriotic record, who has?
William McKinley comes of Covensanter and revolutionary stock. He has Americanism and patriotism in every drop of his blood. His great grandfather McKinley fought in the American Army at Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth, and his father, the late William McKinley, senior of Canton, O., was a lifelong member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Maj. McKinley enlisted in the Union volunteer army, when but a boy, in 1861, carried a musket as a private soldier for over a year, was commissioned a lieutenant by Gov. Tod of Ohio, then captain; served on the staffs of Gens. Hayes, Carroll, Crook, Hancock and Sheridan, and was brevetted major in the United States army, in 1865, by President Lincoln, "for gallant and meritorious conduct at the battle of Opequan." No soldier ever fought more bravely than he for more than four years in the Union army. Could there be a better test of his Americanism and patriotism than that?

It is likewise charged that Maj. McKinley, while Governor, made appointments favoring a particular church. The charge is absolutely false. As to the character and fitness of his appointments they are unassallable. Maj. McKinley is a broad-minded, noble-hearted Christian gentleman, and in his appointments he never made or sought to make a religious test. He is not a bigot, but, as a Protestant and Christian, believes in every man enjoying the constitutional right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. He has always been and is now a most fervent and devoted champion and supporter of our public school system. He is opposed to a division of the public school fund, and no statesman in the country has ever delivered so many addresses, or is in such demand now before High School and college commencements as he. None is more heartily in favor of every measure that will improve, advance and benefit our public schools.

Maj. McKinley can not be injured by a statement of the truth. Le

This is the season of the year when wool-growers ship their spring clip to the eastern markets, and the news that the old rates are to be restored is welcome news for them. Notice of the cancellation of the advanced rates has been served on the interstate Commerce Commission, to take effect tomorrow. The wool rates apply from all California terminals on the lines of the Southern Pacific Company.

WANT IMMEDIATE SALE.

MILWAUKEE, April 27.—Attorney Stetson of New York, representing the reorganization company, applied to Judge Jankins this morning for a decree for the immediate foreclosure and sale of the Northern Pacific property. The court objected to the stipulation that no accounting be required from the receivers, and said he would inist upon a full statement of the operations of the road under the receivership of the road under the "In the Nature of Persecution"

What A.P.A.s Want.

(Cairo, Ill., Special to the Chicago Tribune:) There have been two Linton clubs organized in this city, and prominent members who have been interviewed as to their aims or objects declare that while they realize that it may be impossible to nominate Congressman Linton, they do expect to so crystallize not only the A.P.A. sentiment, but public sympathy also around him to make him a formidable competitor for other Presidential candidates, and place him in such a commanding position as to enable them to secure the insertion of a plank in the platform of the St. Louis convention clearly defining their objection to the further appropriation of public funds for the support or maintenance of sectarian schools, and also to protest against the free and unrestrained immigration laws as they now exist. What A.P.A.s Want.

are Canadians that have brought their Kanuck prejudices with them and are trading them off in cheap political bargains.

It may be the fault of Mr. Reed, Mr. Morton, and the others, to be the victims of this approbation; but it certainly is their misfortune. It will advertise them to the public as narrowminded bigots who are willing to get an office by a violation of the spirit of the Constitution, in discriminating against their fellow-citizens on account of their religion.

their fellow-citizens on account of their religion.

This is probably not true in the case of most, and probably all, of them, but the deadly blight of the praise or even of the tolerance of this secret society is a most unhappy episode in a Presidential boom. It is true it is the product of hap-hazard ignorance, as is shown by its boycott of McKinley—one of the broadest of men in these regards. It is shown in its accusation against Mr. Reed for having left the Speaker's chair during the discussion of the Indian apduring the discussion of the Indian ap-propriation bill; whreas it was his duty to do so, because the House was in committee of the whole and the Speaker makes way for a special chairman.

(Kansas City Star:) The circular issued by the national advisory board of the A.P.A., finding Maj. McKinley guilty on two counts, indicates the purpose of that organization to take a hand in the proceedings of the National Republican Convention at St. Louis. It has been stated that a number of delegates belonging to this order have aiready been elected, and will demand a hearing on the choice of the Presidential nominee. McKinley has been singled out, apparently, as an object of particular hostility by the A.P.A., but he can regard the situation with composure in the light of the knowledge that the convention will not dare to indorse the A.P.A., and that not one of his competitors in the race would think of declaring himself in sympathy with that order. McKinley's luck has not deserted him, or at least it has not been weakened by the circular issued with the purpose of harming him. ued by the national advisory board of

"Sowing Dragon's Teeth." "Sowing Dragon's Teeth."

(San Francisco Post:) In organising an open antagonism to one of the candidates for the Presidency the leaders of the American Protective Association are sowing dragon's teeth. Whatever may be said in defense of the principles upon which that order is established, it cannot for a moment be contended that its leaders can with impunity interfere in a Presidential contest on any such issue as they have presented. McKinley is an American of the most approved description, and his patriotism cannot at this late day be questioned. To antagonize him on that ground cannot fall to bring to his sup-fact is exposed the better for the try.

Instead of weakening McKinley be fore the convention, the assault that is being made on him will strengthen him. Such has been the history of all similar movements. Human mature is so constituted that it will not stand persecution and while unreasoning prejudice sometimes influences elections, it never does when it is open and understood by the public.

An Impartial View.

(Pasadena News.) To an impartial observer it looks very much as if Messrs. Platt and Quay were working the A.P.A. by means of secret emissaries within the order to down McKinley. One leading object of that order is understood to be antagonism to ring methods and ring rule. If McKinley is beaten, that result will probably be accomplished through the manipulations of political wire-pullers and bosses. The tide for him has attained such volume that desperate measures have become necessary to stem it. If a great organization like the A.P.A. can be pitted against him through misrepresentation or misinformation, it may compass his defeat. If so the bosses, and not the people will eat the roasted chestnuts.

Of No Avail.

(Pasadena Star:) The State president of the A.P.A. in this State denies the rumors that the organization has pronounced against McKinley. It doesn't seem to be of any avail to pronounce against the Ohio statesman, anyway, for he is walking through the land like unto a young whirlwind and carrying everything before him. Mr. Depew's remark about California being a unit for McKinley and protection might truthfully be applied to the entire West.

Illogical Opposition

Illegical Opposition.

(Azusa Pomotropic:) The A.P.A. organization is under very poor leadership if the report that it will antagonize Mc-Kinley be true. In the first place such opposition would be illogical, for Mc-Kinley's Americanism is as pronounced as that of the most radical A.P.A. It would be wrong, for McKinley's principles and those codified by the A.P.A.s are identical. They believe in restricting foreign immigration; so does he. They are opposed to any interference by church powers with our public schools. So believes every true American. No appropriations of public moneys to any denominational body is the tenet of all patriots, and so through the whole catalogue of A.P.A. principles we find them only adopted from the creed of every true friend of the republic. Again, it would be suicidal for the leaders of the A.P.A. movement to violate public opinion by issuing secret with the free choice of a President. Such action would break whatever unity the order now has, for tens of thousands of its numbers would not submit to interference with the conscience in the ballot booth. It would not be American to submit to it.

Knows No Factions.

Knows No Factions.

(Chino Valley Champion:) The answer given the A.P.A. by Gov. McKinley that he "knows no factions inside the Republican party" should and will strengthen him immensely among the masses of the voters and unprejudiced people. Maj. McKinley's religious affiliations are Protestant, so the A.P.A. should have no objection to him on that score; and he is as typical of radical Americanism as the strongest A.P.A. adherent, without being a fanatic. The A.P.A. will wield the balance of power in many places; but it will only weaken its cause by caviling over such a matter as William McKinley's Americanism.

Will not Oppose Him.

maintenance of sectarian schools and also to protest against the free and unrestrained immigration laws as they now exist.

They Oppose Reed.

(Cleveland World:) Nothing is so un-American, nothing so foreign, as the performance of this secret society, that in ironical defiance of American principles and ideas has usurped the title of American; when its ruling spirits are Canadians that have brought their Kanuck prejudices with them and are trading them off in cheap political bargains.

It may be the fault of Mr. Reed, Mr. Morton, and the others, to be the victorial secretary and the sentiment and will of this percentage will prevail in this contest."

ment and will of this percentage will prevail in this contest."

One Who Knows Him Well.

NORTH PASADENA (Cal.,) April 27, 1896.—(To the Editor of The Times:) I very much appreciate your efforts to secure the nomination of the Hon. William McKinley for the highest office in the gift of the American people, and being personally acquainted with him I feel it my duty to add my mite in helping him to attain that end.

I have been intimately acquainted with the Major for over thirty-five years, having been born and raised in his county. I knew him when a beardless boy he entered the army as a private; also when he came home a major. I was a juror in the court when he made his maiden plea as an attorney; was by the court appointed foremán of the grand jury during his term of office as Prosecuting Attorney, and a delegate to the convention that nominated him for Congressman. I have many times taken counsel of him when in the discharge of my duties as a county officer and always found him obliging and his counsel correct. When at conventions it was often necessary to counsel with him, and I always found him to be honest and upright in every way, he always desiring that the will of the people be done.

It has often been my privilege to visit him at his home, where I found him the same honest, frank, congenial fellow, and a most kind and devoted husband. In all my intercourses with him if have always found him a gentleman of the highest type.

I see by different papers that some of the A.P.A.S are opposing his nomination. I feel sure that did they know him as I do their opposition would at once cease, and that the order would turn about and help him to the position he so richly deserves. About one year ago, at a sacramental meeting in one of the most prominent Protestant churches in his city, Mr. McKinley, with his aged and feeble mother leaning upon his arm, went to the altar and partook of the sacrament. He is a firm believer in Christianity, but is no religious crank.

I feel that with the knowledge the American peopl

An Interesting Booklet on Cripple Creek,

Giving a concise, yet complete history of Cripple Creek and its famous bonanza mines will be mailed free to all persons interested in Gold Mining.

The statements made therein are facts. All Americans should note the comparison in the values of Cripple Creek ores with those of South Africa over which the people of Europe went almost wild. The Cripple Creek Mines throw away all ores running as low as the Kaffir ores—reasons for which are given in this valuable bookiet.

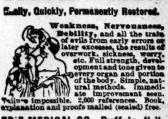

The author winds up with a splendid description of the Independence Extension Mining Co's property located on Battle Mountain, ad-joining the historical Strong Mine, within 300 feet of Stratton's famous Independence and very near the Portland group, which pay 800,000 monthly in dividends. How to see Mount Lowe. Like other mountain resorts, the best views are to be had during the evenings and mornings, and the worst in the middle of the day, as that is the time, if ever, the mists of the valley rise and obscure the charming landscape. Besides, for health and pleasure there is no place on the Pacific Coast where a long stay can be enjoyed so much, or where so fine accommodations can be obtained at moderate rates. But visitors whose time is limited can see and enjoy more in one night at Echo Mountain House than in one month at ordinary places. The Great Telescope, the World's Fair Premium Searchlight, the lighted cities below, resembling at night a "lake of diamonds," the magnificent sunsets and sunrises, the wonderful morning and evening echoes, together with a ride over the most scenic mountain railway in the world, afford more lasting pleasure than all else on the Pacific Coast combined. Elegant hotels, superior table, courteous attendance. Numerous suites of rooms with bath. Open wood and gas fire in every room. Telegraph, telephone, express office, postoffice with money order department. Six trains each way daily. 25-cent hotel coupons issued for Alpine Tavern or Echo Mountain to the valley and return, while guests at the hotels. STOLEN FURNITURE.

A Second Hand Man With a Tight Some time ago J. D. Cooper rented a room in the Clinton Block on North Main street, and furnished it completely. Not wishing to occupy it himself, he sublet it to another man. About a week ago the man who was occupying the room gave it up, and returned the the room gave it up, and returned the key to Mr. Cooper, who at once paid a visit to the room, and found all his furniture still there.

Several days went by, then Mr. Cooper went to the room again and discovered that every stick of furniture had disappeared. He ransacked the second-hand stores and at last found the lost furniture in the store of J. Goot at No. 647 Upper Main street. Goot refused to turn over the things until Mr. Cooper paid him what he had given the thief.

The thief.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Cooper paid Goot's second-hand store another visit, this time accompanied by Detectives Auble and Hawley, armed with a search warrant, and Mr. Wright, a search warrant, and Mr. Wright, a search warrant, and Mr. whom Mr. search warrant, and Mr. Wright, a second-hand dealer from whom Mr. Cooper had bought the furniture in the first place. In spite of the fact that he had been warned by Mr. Cooper that the furniture was stolen goods, Goot had sold some of the stuff. Messrs. Wright and Hawley identified what was left, and it was carried off to the Police Station, there to remain until the matter is settled. It is improbable that the thief will ever be captured, for about all the description of the man who sold the furniture that was obtainable was that he was a tall young man.

Chamber of Commerce.

Displays in the Chamber of Commerce were kept up during flesta week in a style calculated to impress all visitors to Los Angeles with the wealth of resources in the surrounding counties and neighboring towns. The Orange County Chamber of Commerce kept its table in the exhibit-room loaded with flowers, which were renewed every day by the two young ladies placed in charge. Mrs. H. W. R. Strong also kept her especial table beautiful and tempting with fresh fruits, flowers and palms. Mrs. Joseph Sexton of Santa Barbara made a beautiful display of pyrogoneium, the exquisitely-shaded wild flower that grows in such abundance around that pretty city; and the San Diego Chamber of Commerce sent in a fresh display of lemons and the citron of commerce. The Pomona Board of Trade sent in a generous heap of oranges, lemons, olives and marmalade, and the Covina Citrus Association made a fine display of fresh oranges. A box of St. Michael oranges was an exhibit placed in the chamber by the Board of Supervisors at San Bernardino. C. P.
